

Christians meet on National Mall for Prayer and Worship

Numbers were down but hopes were up Memorial Day weekend when intercessors, worshipers united in Washington

French Musician Answers Call to Play God's Music

Dominique DiPiazza, renowned former guitarist with the John McLaughlin Trio, is making new sounds

Alleged son of Anton LaVey fails to prove identity

The evangelist claims he is a son of the late satanist

Cruses launch worship school

Its three-year program, which begins next month, offers college-style major in worship and musicianship

Messianic Jew reaches Muslims in Egypt

The risks are extreme for Linda Miller, who says as many as 1,000 people embraced faith in Christ during a May visit

Revivalist is wanted by Police

Washington state holds three outstanding warrants for the evangelist, who led revivals this year in North Carolina

'Hip-Hop Haven' touches at-risk youth in Indianapolis

The Friday night outreach held in a church sanctuary draws some 400 youth from a high-crime community

Church of God Children's Home

Set in the foothills of the Smokies, the facility has a history of restoring the lives of troubled outh

Missionary Martin Burnham

The American missionary died, but his wife survived after being held in the Philippine jungle for a year

News Briefs