

Prophecy in Motion? Amanda Grace's Stunning Revelation on Persecution

President Donald Trump has decided to grant farmers from South Africa asylum Amid brutal apartheid. However, this may not just be part of a governmental power move, but rather part of a prophetic word given to Amanda Grace on Jan. 25, 2025.

In an X post, Amanda Grace shared the word she heard of God's coming justice and righteousness to South Africa.

South Africa, your day of recompense is upon you, says the Lord, for you have entertained the whisperings of apartheid over and over again and you have begun to move toward such a temptation. That spirit has moved to take power in South Africa, that spirit has oppressed and now, says the Lord, there shall be a decompression of such.

So, could this new action by the president be part of this as prophetic fulfillment?

“...they’re being killed, and we don’t want to see people be killed,” Trump told the media. “It’s a genocide that’s taking place that you people don’t want to write about, but it’s a terrible thing that is taking place and farmers are being killed.”

In this announcement he also noted that regardless of the person’s race, we cannot ignore the ongoing injustice of murder and loss of land in South Africa.

“I don’t care about their race, their color, I don’t care about their height, their weight, I don’t care about anything. I just know that what’s happening is terrible. I have people who live in South Africa; they say it is a terrible situation taking place. So, we’ve essentially extended citizenship to those people and to escape from that violence and come here,” Trump says.

This moment marks more than a political gesture—it may well be a turning point in a deeper spiritual reckoning. As South Africa grapples with the resurgence of old wounds and dangerous ideologies, the world watches a nation at a crossroads. This decision may be the first ripple of a larger wave of justice set in motion by God’s hand. As the veil is lifted, what was once tolerated in silence is now being confronted with truth and action.

Flat Earth or Globe? Alexander Pagani Helps Settle Debate

It's the debate that keeps on keeping on in Christian communities: Is the earth flat or is it a globe?

In a reaction video to Timothy Alberino and Taylor Welch's discussion on this topic, Alexander Pagani provided key insights on what believers should know about the shape of the earth.

Wisdom and discernment are key to walking in the life God has prepared for you.

In a powerful message grounded in Matthew 13:16, Alwyn Uys encouraged viewers to sharpen their spiritual discernment and wait patiently for the true fulfillment of God's promises in their lives.

Quoting Matthew 13:16, he emphasizes, "Blessed are your eyes because they see, and your ears because they hear." This seeing and hearing, he explained, goes beyond the natural – it's about perceiving truth as God reveals it.

"There are things that can look like the real thing, sound like the real thing, even feel like the real thing – but they are not. They are a counterfeit," Uys warns. "And we need spiritual eyes and spiritual ears to really see, 'Lord, what are You showing me? Is this the real thing?'"

One of the ways Uys believes the enemy is trying to move people away from God's truth is through broken relationships. "I just had this sense that there are so many people who've experienced this with relationships," he shared. "The signs were there, the confirmations were there and then it didn't work out... and it created a wedge between you and the Lord."

He further shared the importance of discernment, referencing 2 Kings, the story of Elisha and his servant surrounded by an enemy army. While the servant panicked, Elisha remained calm because he could see the angelic armies of God. "He prayed for Gahazi and he said to open up his eyes that he can see as the Lord sees... and then he saw that what was for them was greater than what was against them."

Uys also had an up-close encounter with someone at the gym who was dealing with the issue of counterfeit religious beliefs in his family. The Lord opened the door for Uys to pray over this man's injured shoulder, which led the man to confess that something wasn't right spiritually at home. "There's a family member busy with unholy things... they do certain rituals... burn sage and do all these kind of stuff," the man told Uys, who responded, "That is the counterfeit. The enemy will counterfeit. God gives us the real thing."

God gave Uys further confirmation of this word about counterfeits through a vision. In the imagery, he saw the Lord leading people by the hand through a dark corridor. "There were certain doors opening to the left and to the right. And the Lord was looking back and saying, 'Not that one. Not that one. Follow My lead.'"

In a world full of distractions, quick fixes and deceptive opportunities, it's more crucial than ever for believers to remain anchored in discernment and faith. When the path seems unclear and appealing alternatives present themselves, the temptation to compromise can be strong. But those who wait on the Lord and trust His timing will walk into the fullness of what He has prepared—authentic, holy and unmistakably divine.

Chris Reed Shares Unfathomable Miracle: ‘I’ve Never Seen Anything Like This’

The phenomenon of UFOs is no longer something relegated to science fiction or fringe theories.

In a recent video, L.A. Marzulli shared how the “21st rung” of disclosure around the topic of UFOs has now been revealed.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Marzulli begins by acknowledging that UFOs are no longer just a curiosity—they are a reality that is becoming impossible to ignore. The 21st rung signifies the latest step in the ongoing disclosure of information about these unidentified flying objects, where whistleblowers are coming forward with alarming claims.

A recent whistleblower who was featured on the Joe Rogan Experience revealed that the U.S. government possesses more than 10 recovered UFO craft, a shocking admission that strengthens the case for extraterrestrial or nonhuman technology being in human hands.

Marzulli ties this to the famous case of Bob Lazar, who claimed in the 1990s to have worked on reverse-engineering alien technology at Area 51. Lazar's testimony laid the groundwork for what would eventually become the "UFO Disclosure" movement, but the latest developments signal that we are now moving closer to full public acknowledgment.

Another testimony that Marzulli points to is Commander David Fravor's 2004 encounter with a UFO off the coast of California, which adds further credibility to these claims. Fravor's testimony, first brought to light in 2017, describes an incident in which he and his team observed an object with technology far beyond anything the U.S. military possessed. Despite radar confirmation and eyewitness accounts, the event was never thoroughly investigated—something Fravor finds deeply troubling. The phenomenon is not only real but is also actively being ignored by government officials, he says.

The “21st rung” also marks a moment when the line between official government secrecy and the revelations of whistleblowers is starting to blur. The involvement of alternative media platforms like Joe Rogan’s podcast instead of mainstream outlets illustrates a shift in how the public is engaging with UFO information.

“The alternative media,” says Marzulli, “is taking off.”

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

Marzulli cautions that while the UFO revelations may seem exciting, they are part of a larger “coming great deception.” He suggests that the ultimate aim of this disclosure may be a form of global manipulation—framed as salvation, with extraterrestrials positioning themselves as humanity’s creators.

The future of UFO disclosure remains uncertain, but one thing is clear: the phenomenon is not going away, and its implications are far-reaching.

Great and Mighty Things Are

Waiting—Don't Miss What God Wants to Show You

"Call to me, and I will answer you, and show you great and mighty things which you do not know," (Jer. 33:3).

It is the Lord's heart to commune with His children, and all throughout Scripture we can find where He desires to speak with His people. In a recent video, Rabbi Kirt Schneider offers a heartfelt word of encouragement, drawing inspiration from one of his favorite scriptures: Jeremiah 33:3. With his characteristic warmth and joy, he connects with viewers on a personal level, celebrating the continuous journey of discovering more of God's presence and power.

*Quoting Jeremiah 33:3, Schneider proclaims: "Call to me, and I will answer you and I will tell you... great and mighty things which you do not know." "Isn't it awesome to know that our God is so majestic," Schneider says, "that he has so much to reveal to us... so much of his miracle-working power, so much of him that we have not yet experienced that he wants to reveal to us?" His passion is contagious as he calls believers to press in with “desperation, love and faith.”

Not all prophecy is from God.

In a powerful interview with Kap Chatfield on the Directed Life podcast, Pastor Joshua Germain shared his testimony from being deceived by a seemingly godly church that, over time, revealed itself to be deeply rooted in the manipulation of anointing and spiritual gifts for the sake of witchcraft. Drawn in by the promise of prophetic accuracy and supernatural experiences, Germain shares how he and his wife unknowingly walked into a trap orchestrated by familiar spirits, not the Holy Spirit.

Look for Kap Chatfield’s upcoming new book, Prosperity Is Not a Curse Word.

Available soon on .

It began with what appeared to be a divine setup. After years of spiritual wandering and rededication, Germain and his wife were referred to a prophetic church where “the person said some accurate stuff so it made me really, really believe this is God.” At first, it seemed like they had finally found community and spiritual direction. “We felt like for the first time in a long time... we don’t feel like we’re black sheep anymore. We feel like we’re accepted.”

However, what seemed like prophetic insight was actually rooted in demonic familiarity. “It could seem like it’s a prophetic thing... but it’s really a familiar spirit thing.” These spirits mimicked God by speaking accurate details from the past, giving the illusion of divine revelation. “They’re going to go in your past... so it’s going to be like, ‘Wow, man. This is God.’”

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Germain noticed this deception when leaders instructed members to bring items like sand, salt and water, and to place names of people in bottles to pray over and break them. One leader told his wife to write the name of a harassing coworker and “put it in the bottle and break it.” Minutes after they obeyed, they got a call: “Your boss, she’s in the hospital... the lady was dying.”

This immediate result terrified Germain. “I was scared... if these people really are not people of God, they can turn around and kill us all.” While the church cloaked itself in spiritual discipline—praying for hours and fasting for days—he came to realize the fruit was not of the Spirit.

Germain and Chatfield reflected on how scripture can be used to justify witchcraft. “Any one scripture taken out of context can be used demonically against the people of God,” Chatfield warned, highlighting the importance of “rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Timothy 2:15). True discernment comes not only from scripture knowledge but from knowing the heart of God.

The deception was also emotional. Germain admitted that spiritual manipulation was intertwined with their own vulnerability. “We want this fast food gospel, that’s the problem,” Germain said. “The abuser with the abusee. You got to leave.”

Germain’s message to others is clear: don’t chase power or prophecy without discernment.
