

A Message To Those Left Behind After the Rapture

What would it be like if you were left behind after the rapture?

In a recent podcast, Jack Hibbs posted a message to those left behind after the rapture. While not everyone will agree on the timing of when this event will happen, there is complete truth that these will be dark and tumultuous times.

“You’re watching this right now because what you heard about has happened,” Hibbs says. “Friend, listen, you’ve been left behind. Jesus Christ has come for His church, and you didn’t go.”

Hibbs continues to explain how the Antichrist will rise and with that, there will be a seven-year peace treaty with Israel and their enemies.

“Someone’s going to rise and they’re going to have an idea on how to bring a peace treaty to Israel regarding its dilemmas and its enemies,” Hibbs says.

“It’s a seven-years long peace treaty with Israel and its enemies. This man will engineer this for the first three and half years starting right now. There’s going to be a swell of peace and prosperity for three and a half years, but that peace and prosperity is laced with profound, demonic deception.”

Hibbs continues his message discussing the horrifying events that will happen during this period of time. He urges those left behind to make the decision to follow Christ before it's too late, even at the expense of their lives here on this earth.

"You're going to have to make a choice to die for Christ, to dive into the truth of the Bible," Hibbs says. "I'm not here to condemn you; I'm here to give you some hope. If you turn to Jesus, you're going to have to die for Him...but don't be afraid because they can only take your earthly body. Your soul and your spirit can be saved right now."

While none of us want to be left behind, there's only one way to ensure that this will not happen. Turning away from sin and moving toward Jesus even at the expense of life here on this planet is the only way to experience eternal life with Christ.

THIS is the Last Sign Before Jesus Returns

When it comes to the return of Christ, there are many signs and wonders that will accompany His coming before it happens.

In a word about Jesus' return, Perry Stone shared how the last sign before the flood in Noah's day and age was the man named Methuselah. He was the oldest person to live, at 969 years.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

However, it was the meaning of Methuselah's name that was a sign in and of itself. When the etymology of his name is broken down, Methuselah means that "at his death, it shall be sent."

"It had the connotation of his death would bring it," Stone says. "If you study Genesis and you look at his age and the timing of the flood, Methuselah died a week, one week, seven days before the flood struck the planet."

Just as Methuselah acted as the sign of the impending end before the flood, we are seeing our own last sign before the return of Christ.

"Our sign is this; it should come to pass in the last day, saith God, 'I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh. Your sons and daughters will prophesy, your old men will dream dreams, your young men will see visions.' Our sign is this global outpouring of the Holy Spirit," Stone says.

Just as Joel 2 says that this will come to pass, we are seeing an increase today people, including young people, having dreams, visions and prophesying.

"There is coming a pre-tribulation revival and outpouring of the Holy Spirit and the Spirit of God being poured," Stone says. "We have a time when God is going to refresh us."

While none of us know the day or the hour when the Son of Man will return in all His glory, we can see the revival harvest as evidence that He is on His way. We are in position to declare: "maranatha, come, Lord Jesus."

Three Signs You're Being Attacked by Witchcraft

Is it possible for believers to be under the power of witchcraft?

In a recent livestream, prophetic voice Jeremiah Johnson shared the three keys that point to someone either working in witchcraft or being under the influence of a witchcraft attack.

Each of these are rooted in rebellion and a desire to control people, some Johnson points out as being wildly different than the free will that God gives us to make our choices and decisions.

“Let me give you three primary signs that either you’re operating in witchcraft or the spirit of witchcraft is operating against you,” Johnson says. “Number one, manipulation, number two, intimidation and number three, domination.”

If you see someone trying to manipulate, intimidate or dominate you, there is likely a spirit of witchcraft that is coming against. As Johnson notes, these attacks tend to happen most frequently when there is an absence of genuine love. In our human nature, we tend to add stipulations as to how we care about others. However, this is not the kind of love we are called to adhere to.

“A lot of people don’t know how to have healthy relationships that are motivated by love,” Johnson says. “We don’t know how to love one another without strings attached. We don’t know how to serve one another. We don’t know how to walk in humility, and so what we do is we try to control people through tactics...”

While we desire for the world to go according to our own plans, acting in rebellious, controlling ways is far from the ways of God. However, it is possible to have freedom from the spirit of witchcraft.

“Number one, how we get freedom from witchcraft is we keep obeying God,” Johnson says. “Do not give up, do not give in, do not allow that bullying.”

Johnson also says the power of continual prayer will also help to overcome the spiritual grip of witchcraft.

“You’ve got to pray through; you’ve got to fight,” Johnson says. “A great way to overcome witchcraft is praying in tongues.”

Johnson also says that breaking off the power of witchcraft through Jesus’ name and by standing on the Word of God it is possible to see this rebellious force lifted off of you. For Johnson, there is also power in the tears that we cry through our situations.

“Witchcraft I really believe, it blinds our vision and it makes our heart sick,” Johnson says. “You’ve got to cry out to God, you’ve got to cry fresh tears and bless your enemies and release them to the Lord.”

This powerful message is a reminder that not all witchcraft comes in direct spells and potions against you. Instead, it sometimes comes through a rebellious teenager or a marriage that is breaking down with plenty of strings attached to it. However, through the blood of Christ, there is no power and no darkness greater than the resurrection power of Jesus.

World Famous Atheist Identifies as a ‘Cultural Christian’

Is Richard Dawkins one step closer to Jesus?

The world-famous atheist and evolutionary biologist is calling himself a ‘cultural Christian’ in light of the lack of Easter celebrations in London, where Ramadan festivities lit up the city instead.

As Fox News reported, Dawkins said in an interview with LBC, “I must say I’m slightly horrified to hear that Ramadan is being promoted instead. I feel that we are a Christian country.”

While Dawkins does not believe the Word of God to be true, he also does not believe another religion can accurately serve as a substitute for creating the best possible society.

“It’s true that statistically, the number of people who actually believe in Christianity is going down and I’m happy with that, but I would not be happy if, for example, we lost all our cathedrals and our beautiful parish churches. So, I count myself a cultural Christian,” Dawkins said.

Dawkins further distinguished that he is not a believing Christian and does not believe “a single word” of Christianity. However, he feels “at home” in the society Christianity has created. He also says he would choose the Christian faith over Islam anytime because he believes Islam’s doctrines are hostile.

Dawkins’ statement about Christianity comes as the White House originally planned an iftar Ramadan dinner for this week. This followed the Biden Administration’s decision to highlight the “Transgender Day of Visibility” on the sacred Christian holy day of Easter.

If Dawkins, who does not truly believe in God, can see the good that Christianity has on society, perhaps there’s more to this scenario. Christianity may be good for society because it brings a light to the darkness and provides a firm foundation of moral stability. Let’s continue to pray that God use Christianity to shape nations and societies, and even transform hearts like Dawkins’.

Is The Eclipse God's Supernatural Call to Repentance?

Is the coming eclipse a sign of judgment? Is this our moment of necessary repentance?

In his exclusive interview with Charisma News, Troy Anderson tackled the subject of what the coming eclipse means for us, and how both peace and repentance are signs correlate with the eclipse of 2017 and the one taking place on April 8.

“Eclipses actually happen fairly often. And usually over the ocean. So that’s what’s unusual about these is you had the one over land that moved across the country in 2017,” Anderson says. “It moved through all these cities called then you now have this one coming up on April 8, that goes through all these cities called Nineveh, and there’s one city called Jonah.”

What makes the names of these towns significant is not only how their intersecting paths create an ‘X,’ but that they each symbolize something completely different. Salem means “peace” while Nineveh is a call to repentance, just as it was when Jonah went to the people of Nineveh and called for them to turn toward God.

“When you compare the 2017 eclipse to the 2024 it essentially forms this gigantic X and sort of the heart of America,” Anderson says. “It’s in roughly Carbondale, Illinois area. And that area is also known as Little Egypt.”

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Egypt, of course, is the nation where God led the Israelites out of slavery. It is the place of which God rescued His people and performed miraculous signs and wonders to show that He is the Lord. Perhaps by highlighting towns for repentance God is also highlighting the fact that He still can rescue us from a place of bondage.

Anderson says even Billy Graham made an excellent point about Jonah in regards to Nineveh and repentance.

“He said that when God sent the prophet Jonah to Nineveh to warn the judgment that the king of the people repented. And he said he believes the same thing can happen again, this time in America.”

More than just a symbolic call for prayer and repentance, Nineveh itself experienced an eclipse right before Jonah came to their city, pleading with them to seek God. This was a physical sign of God tugging on His people’s hearts to come back to Him.

“God is calling us not only just to repent and really turn away from our sins as a nation and as a church, but to join the army, join the effort to take action to do everything Jesus told us to do,” Anderson says.

As we see further advances with artificial intelligence, technology, revivals and a shift away from Christianity in our culture, there couldn't possibly be a better time for our nation to turn from wickedness and toward God's mercy.

Trump Promises to Make Election Day 'Christian Visibility Day'

Amid Biden's blunder of declaring Easter "Transgender Day of Visibility," Former President Trump is promising to make election day a different type of day. He is calling for November 5 to be "Christian Visibility Day."

"We're going to win the White House, and we are going to save our country," Trump said at a rally in Wisconsin.

He then continued with his wonder about what President Biden was doing when he announced Easter to be "Transgender Day of Visibility."

"Such total respect to Christians," Trump said. "And November 5 is going to be called something else. You know what it's going to be called? Christian Visibility Day."

This statement is part of Trump's hope that Christians will turn out in droves on November 5 in support for election day.

This follows just a week after the former president started promoting Lee Greenwood's God Bless the USA Bible.

"Happy Holy Week! Let's Make America Pray Again. As we lead into Good Friday and Easter, I encourage you to get a copy of the God Bless The USA Bible," Trump wrote on Truth Social.

This endorsement of Christianity is quite a contrast to Biden's current presidency, which used Resurrection Sunday to proclaim his endorsement of the transgender agenda.

"On Transgender Day of Visibility, we honor the extraordinary courage and contributions of transgender Americans and reaffirm our Nation's commitment to forming a more perfect Union—where all people are created equal and treated equally throughout their lives," a statement from the White House read.

During the midst of this upcoming election rematch between both Biden and Trump, it will be interesting to see which communities each candidate reaches out to for support in this presidential race.

OnlyFans Model Turns To Christ, Gives Up Fame for Jesus

OnlyFans has become a leading form of pornography for the next generation. As young women are discovering they can accumulate a fortune for showing off their bodies, a new type of cultural crisis has ensued.

However, not all hope is lost.

Former OnlyFans model, Nala Ray, is sharing how she decided to give up the worldly fame and fortune to follow Jesus.

On Nala's TikTok page, she highlights the transformation that's happened in her life. From being on the "Whatever" podcast discussing crude sexual content to getting baptized, it's clear that something has dramatically changed in her life.

"No matter what you've done, said or believed...Jesus saves. Jesus loves. Jesus forgives," the caption reads.

In a separate video, Ray discusses how she grew up as a pastor's child, spending much of her time in church. She was also homeschooled. As someone with a bit of a rebellious streak, Ray says she felt as though her life was lived in a cage. At the time, she didn't know the difference between religion and relationship with Jesus.

“About four years ago, I started my OnlyFans,” Ray says. “Truly, it was out of pure rebellion.”

Nala’s success on OnlyFans skyrocketed as she made it into the top .01% of content creators on the site. While to the world it may seem as though she reached the mountaintop of success, Ray says the things she was given in this world were not from God, but from the enemy who sought to kill, steal and destroy her soul.

“The devil can truly give you things in this life. He has a budget though. He can only go so far,” Ray says. “I truly have gifts and talents; I just did not use them in the right way.”

Ray says she saw the true love of God during her friendship with her now-boyfriend. He would pray over her and send her Bible verses, which helped her to see what a real relationship with God could look like.

“I am now giving it all up for Christ,” Ray says. “I am now truly a believer. I would never take it back. God radically saved me from this darkness.”

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Nala Ray says that all the things she had—the money, fame, trips and clothing—pale in comparison to the plans that God has for her, and that there is nothing greater than truly knowing Jesus.

“You need to understand that your life is very temporary here on earth, and we all have a mission, and that’s to preach the Word of God,” Ray says.

Nala Ray has since deleted her OnlyFans account, and is sharing the timely importance of committing one’s life to Christ before His return.

“It’s so important for you to know and understand what’s going on in the world right now is not a coincidence,” Ray says. “Jesus is coming back. He’s coming back with a sword. You know, this world is getting darker and darker, you see it on TV, you hear it in the music when you go to concerts, when you’re just out and about. There is evil and darkness surrounding us right now.”

She urges fans that now is the time to look toward Jesus and the price He paid on the cross for our sins. She points out that the end is quickly approaching, and with that so is the opportunity to get right with God.

“There are signs in the skies and signs within our generation. Things going on are not just a coincidence. God is saying He is coming back. It has been prophesied in the Bible,” Ray says.

Nala Ray’s testimony shows that truly neither height, nor depth—absolutely nothing can keep us separated from the love of God. All we need to do, is call on His name.

Prophecy Fulfilled: The Daily Wire is Coming Into Order

Was a prophecy by Amanda Grace about The Daily Wire fulfilled?

Back in November, Amanda Grace had a prophetic word about a necessary order that needed to happen for The Daily Wire. From her word, God has every intention of using The Daily Wire to do great things for His kingdom, but that these things could not happen unless an order was brought to it.

“And says the Lord of Hosts, Jews and Gentiles stop your quarreling on the conservative spectrum for it is being used as a distraction in this hour,” Grace wrote.

This prophecy, which Grace wrote, happened before a split took place between Candace Owens and Ben Shapiro, both major voices in the conservative media. Shapiro is the co-founder of The Daily Wire. Owens, a Christian, and Shapiro, a Jew, publicly disagreed with one another about Owens’ posting of the Beatitudes.

Owens and Shapiro clashed over the war in Israel as Owens has been known as critic of Israel, and has even been accused of being antisemitic. Ultimately, Owens decided to part ways with The Daily Wire.

“Stop it says the LORD, stop it, for I love you,” Grace’s prophecy continued. “However, The Daily Wire must come into order or that wire shall fray and snap in the middle says the Lord of Hosts. Stop your quarrelling and come unto me.”

This warning is rather clear that God will not tolerate the fighting among those He plans on using. Instead, He needs unity for the message of truth to be spread among the nations.

“In this hour I need those to be focused and be a light and a voice to reach through the confusion in this hour,” Grace prophesied. “I shall not tolerate rogue daggers in this hour of rhetoric.”

The prophecy also included items for consideration as the tongue hold the power of life and death within it.

From Amanda Grace's YouTube community post.

"Do not make your own steps out of emotion in this hour for it will hurt your cause and weaken your voice. Death and life are in the power of the tongue. It is your choice, says the Lord, choose wisely this day," the prophecy concluded.

In November, Owens posted part of the Beatitudes on X, including the part which reads "You cannot serve both God and money."

In response to this, Shapiro wrote back, "Candace, if you feel that taking money from The Daily Wire somehow comes between you and God, by all means quit."

Owens further accused Shapiro of acting unprofessional, and said, "You cross a certain line when you come for Scripture and read yourself into it. I will not tolerate it."

Now, as the two have parted ways, we will just have to see how God uses both Shapiro's and Owens' platforms to share the message of truth.

Could the Eclipse Be a Sign of the Coming Tribulation?

While many people fear the coming eclipse will be the end of the world, there's hope to hold on to during this time.

The coming eclipse does not mean the end of the world. While it is a signal of the coming tribulation and a call to repentance as it passes over many cities named Nineveh just as it was in Jonah's day, April 8 is not in itself doomsday.

In a recent video, podcaster Isaiah Saldivar explains why designating April 8 as the end of the world is unbiblical.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Looking at Matthew 24, Saldivar says that the wars and rumors of wars, the pestilences and earthquakes are all just the beginning of the sorrows. However, we have not made it to the place of tribulation yet where we are being killed for our faith.

"In America, we're not here yet. We're not being delivered up to tribulation and killed, but it will come and it is happening in a lot of parts of the world," Saldivar says.

He further points out how the explanation of the sun, moon and stars being darkened does not occur until after the Tribulation. If we have not yet made it to the point of tribulation yet, then the eclipse coming on April 8 does not apply to this particular section of Scripture.

"We've got to be careful how we're using these verses. This is after the tribulation," Saldivar says. "Have we been in the Tribulation yet? No, of course not. The Tribulation will be the most horrific time in human history; you will know when we're in the Tribulation."

If this solar eclipse isn't specifically discussing the tribulation, then could it at least be a sign of the end times?

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

"It could be a sign, but it's not the sign that the world is ending," Saldivar says.

The most important piece of Scripture Saldivar further points out about why the eclipse date specifically is not the end of the world is Matthew 24:36 which reads, "Concerning that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, but My Father only."

"It's impossible for it to be April 8 like everyone's saying because nobody knows the day or hour," Saldivar says.

While no one knows when the end is, Saldivar points out that one of the signs of the end times is that many will say trials have always been around, using it as their case that the world will never end. However, this too is contrary to the known end that the Bible says will happen.

"I think we're in the last days, we need to be diligent, we need to be vigilant as the Bible says, but we don't need to live in fear thinking the world's ending," Saldivar says.

While this coming eclipse is a sign of the things still to come, we need to make sure we are not living our lives in fear. Scripture tells us that God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power, love and a sound mind. As we walk out each day with purpose, we can stay vigilant while also working to fulfill the Great Commission with our whole hearts.

Megachurch Pastors Ousted from Ministry After Affair Admission

Two megachurch pastors have come under some hot water after it was discovered they were in an affair together.

Corey Turner and Stacey Hilliar of Neuma Church in Australia have stepped away from their positions after engaging in an affair together. Their ministry credentials have been temporarily revoked.

As The Christian Post reported, the Australian Christian Churches (ACC) president Wayne Alcorn announced that both leaders have lost their credentials for at least two years.

“The next season for them is all about embracing God’s grace as it is outworked in their lives and families. We encourage you to pray for all concerned at this time,” Alcorn wrote in an email.

During this time, there will be an ongoing investigation where all allegations are considered.

Turner, the senior global pastor of Neuma Church, admitted on Facebook that he had been part of the immoral relationship with Hilliar. The post has since been deleted.

“Out of sincere respect to those who have known me, trusted me, and been connected in some way to my ministry as a Christian leader over the past 25 years, it’s important that I publicly confess that the recent allegations toward me of my engagement in a morally inappropriate relationship is regrettably true,” the Pentecostal pastor wrote on Facebook.

As Ministry Watch reported, Turner further acknowledged how he did not appropriately guard his heart to keep this situation from occurring.

“I didn’t sufficiently guard my heart, reach out for help from trusted spiritual fathers, take decisive action or get the necessary rest I needed. I have sinned against God, my family, and the church,” Turner said.

Neuma has churches in Australia, the U.S. and Thailand.
