

Demon Attacks Woman in Bed, Followed by Angelic Encounter

Are we living in an age of deception? Perhaps there is something more sinister at play in our world than we'd like to admit.

In a world where evil constantly tries to disguise itself as something good, we have to understand that things are not always as they appear on the outside. Instead, more often than not, evil tries to make itself appear as the angel of light.

"You cannot always judge the way something is, what it is, by the way it looks or feels," Jonathan Cahn says.

When we open up the Proverbs, we find insights about what it means to fall for the schemes of the devil, which many of times, equates to believing disillusions about ourselves and the perceptions we have of situations.

Sometimes it means that we find ourselves believing that good news couldn't be further from the truth because of the life experiences that we bring to the table. On the flip side, a disillusionment can lead us away from accepting that sometimes God's message is repentance and correction. And that while God will provide heavenly blessings for us, persecution is also guaranteed to come as well.

"You may be glossing over Scriptures that you don't want to hear," Cahn says. "That challenge you, that convict you or that don't give you that thing."

While it can be hard to accept tough realities, Cahn pleads that the only way we can ever truly walk in the life that God always intended for us.

“If you want God’s will in your life, you have to divest yourself from any vested interest in the answer,” Cahn says. “In other words, you have to say, ‘Lord, I’m okay if you say yes. I’m okay if you say no.’ That’s the only way you’re going to be open. ‘I’m okay if you say yes, or Isaac has to be offered.’”

When we come to God with open and willing hearts to whatever He has for us, He can properly lead us and guide us in the way He desires to do so. However, it is critical that we do not fall under self-deception either as the enemy will try to use that against us too. Instead, it is the Word of the God by which all actions, thoughts and speech must follow.

“You cannot judge any situation by the way it looks, feels or seems,” Cahn says. “You judge any direction, any situation, any road, any gateway, any door by where it’s bringing you. You may be on a hard road but it’s bringing you to something beautiful.”

No matter the previous situations or patterns we’ve been in, no matter what we want the outcome to be, we cannot believe the lies of the enemy or of self-deception, otherwise, we will fall.

Villarreal further encouraged others to seek Jesus as the gatekeeper to their lives just as John 10:7-10 describes Him as so, that all who enter the gate by Jesus will be saved. She also gave a reminder that “When God opens the door and gives you the word and direction, do not be afraid to launch into the deep!”

In a reel on the same topic, Villarreal further gave this same kind of encouragement.

“God’s timing is perfect in your life,” she said. “I know it doesn’t always feel that way, but God knows what He’s doing, in bringing all the puzzle pieces together at the exact right time.”

“This is the year that God’s going to open up doors in your life that have been closed on purpose until this season. God is going to show you why certain dreams that died in the past, certain doors that didn’t budge open are actually for this coming season,” Villarreal continued.

After holding back since Nov. 9, 2023, Jeremiah Johnson has finally broken his silence about his prophetic dream on the events surrounding Mike Bickle and the International House of Prayer, Kansas City.

On a Facebook and Instagram post, Johnson labeled the dream “IHOPKC, Exposure, and the Awakening.”

The dream, full of imagery, describes the setting of the dream to be similar to the Vatican.

What if the only thing holding back a sweeping reform of politics was a spiritual movement?

In his Beyond the Article exclusive interview with Charisma Magazine Online, Apostle Bible Davids is sharing keen insight on what we can expect to see in 2024—and how the political realm will be flipped upside down by the spiritual realm.

“What we’re going to have is a spiritual wave that’s going to keep growing until it becomes a political wave,” Davids says. “And it’s going to keep growing until it becomes a social reform. Every time that there’s going to be any culture shift in any society, it begins first in the realm of the spirit.”

This spiritual wave, however, won’t just happen without people in-tune to the Holy Spirit. That is exactly why this is the time that the Lord is raising up the people who will boldly come before His throne of grace on behalf of our nation.

“When God raises prophets and intercessors and gatekeepers and frontliners and people who understand particularly the rule of the spirit and the protocol of the kingdom...they begin to shift the atmosphere right from the third heaven through prophetic intercession,” Davids says.

Davids also points out that what will be experienced is more than just surface-level situations, but rather what we will see take place is part of a spiritual battle.

“As that fire begins to spread into the year 2024, we begin to see it galvanized, it’s going to increase; it’s going to escalate into the political cycle,” Davids says. “We’re going into the 2024 election like it’s a matter of spiritual warfare...it’s going to be essentially a battle of God’s value and Satan’s culture in this nation. And the revival that started is what God is going to use to create a bigger representation for God’s will to be done in America.”

In his feature article of Charisma Magazine Online, Davids also warns of continuing conflicts in Israel and how these could affect what happens here in America.

“...these geopolitical events may be on the verge of triggering escalated and widespread protests across the United States,” Davids writes. “The catalyst for these protests is foreseen to be strategic attacks on America, further intensifying tensions on both a local and global scale.”

Regardless of what political and spiritual battles we find ourselves in this year, Davids writes that believers must continue to press deeply into Christ.

“It’s a call to seek after God’s presence, to engage in fervent prayer and to immerse oneself in the Word of God. In doing so, believers cultivate a passionate and enduring relationship with the Father, fostering a flame that withstands the challenges of the times,” Davids writes.

No matter what troubles we see emerge—political, spiritual or otherwise—we must cling onto the hope of Christ in all circumstances.

Cindy Jacobs' Spiritual Wake-Up Call for America in 2024

If you've ever questioned the reality of hell's torment and the agony experienced there, Bill Wiese has seen the actual pain and suffering of what hell is like after his horrifying encounter.

"On Nov. 23, 1998, God gave me an experience that changed my life," Wiese told Isaiah Saldivar in a recent livestream. "This was not a near-death experience, but this was an out-of-body experience that's classified as a vision in the Bible in 2 Corinthians 12:2 when Paul was caught up in heaven in a vision."

"Suddenly I was pulled out of my body like being drawn up out of your body and I saw my body fall to the floor and I started tumbling down this long tunnel and it was getting hotter and hotter and I landed on an actual stone floor in a prison cell in hell," Wiese added.

Wiese shared that this event was so incredibly intolerable as the heat was beyond the point where anything could live. His body lost all strength as he encountered demons that were beyond disgusting. The reptilian creatures blasphemed and cursed God, clenching into his flesh and throwing him into a prison cell. Even more, all light was taken out from the room because without God, there is no light. The only thing that exists is darkness.

“God withdrew His light, it resumed His normal state of absolute pitch black darkness,” Wiese said. “But Lamentations 3:6 says he has set me in dark places as they that be dead of old. I was taken out of this prison cell, I was placed over next to this large raging pit of fire...it was not a metaphorical fire, it was real flames,” Wiese shared.

Wiese’s book, “23 Minutes in Hell” has changed lives for decades as he took this incredible, terrifying experience and wrote it down to share with the world. While the truth about hell is shocking and grave, Wiese’s experience has allowed people all over to be warned that there is indeed an afterlife, and we really will experience going either into the depths of hell or eternally basking in the glory of God. There is no other option. All will stand before God as their judge and He will either say “well done, my good and faithful servant,” or “depart from me; I never knew you.”

“There is no tolerable, comfortable level in hell,” Wiese warned. “Any level is far worse than your mind can even conceive.”

Hell is a real place, and many will experience its torment. However, it doesn’t have to be this way. If you are still alive and breathing, it is possible to call upon the name of the Lord and be saved. The God of all creation still wants you. He still wants you to choose a relationship with Him. The question is, have you made that decision?

Is This the Start of the Great Apostasy?

In our current day and time, it appears as though evil is all around us. What if there's something bigger behind this evil. Perhaps there's something even deeper that we must acknowledge that's infiltrating our world. Just maybe, the Antichrist spirit is in our midst.

"There is most definitely a targeted warfare that we see playing out in our culture everyday" Lee Grady said in his latest Beyond the Article interview with Charisma Magazine Online. "What I would identify as an Antichrist spirit is working in our government, in our media, in our entertainment, in corporate America."

If we look around, we see the chaos of this spirit all around us. As Grady pointed out in his feature article in Charisma Magazine Online, even here in America the mere sentiment that you might actually stand with Israel can get you in trouble. After all, a teacher in Queens, New York received backlash from a flock of students who tried to storm her classroom because she stood with Israel. They waved Palestinian flags, rioting in the school's hallways.

“The antichrist spirit hates God,” Grady writes. “The devil hates all righteousness and goodness. He wants evil to triumph. This is why people who hate God celebrate sin.”

When we think about the darkness flooding the world around us, we tend to focus on the things we see in the physical. However, we must focus on the supernatural, the spirit realm, in order to fully understand everything that is going on. Whether it’s the pro-Hamas stance to see Israel crippled and destroyed as a nation, or the rise of transgender athletes dominating women’s sports, there is without a doubt something bigger and more sinister going on behind the scenes of these events.

Referencing the story of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, Grady says that we see the same spiritual themes happening in our world today that want us to bow down to the things that are not good, that are not of God’s heavenly, divine places.

“After the music was played, everybody had to bow down and of course the three friends of Daniel refused, and so what did they do? They get thrown in the furnace. That’s what the spirit of Antichrist does, and that’s what’s happening in our culture right now,” Grady said.

So, what are believers to do with the knowledge that there is an evil one out there who wants to steal, kill and destroy their lives?

We are to pray for deliverance. Just as the Lord’s Prayer speaks of deliverance from evil, we are to pray that God would keep His hand upon us, protect us from evil and that He would be the One guiding our lives. We can and should pray that He would be right there with us at all times.
