

'A Miracle': Machado Transfers Nobel Medal to Trump After Escape from Maduro Regime

Are we witnessing the convergence of geopolitics and biblical prophecy in real time? For many watching the upheaval in Iran and the bold stance taken by President Donald Trump, the answer may be yes.

In a recent message, Messianic rabbi Jason Sobel suggested that ancient prophecies may be coming together before our eyes.

"Trump and Iran, are we seeing prophecy being fulfilled right before our eyes?" Sobel asked. "We could possibly be seeing ancient prophecy, both biblical prophecy and an interesting and foundational prophecy within Judaism, literally coming to pass."

The epicenter of the conversation is Iran—biblical Persia—and its prophetic role in the last days.

As protests continue and the Iranian regime threatens violence, the world is being forced to pay attention. President Trump himself added fuel when he declared to the Iranian people, "Help is on the way. Keep protesting."

According to Sobel, the Jewish world is also taking notice. "There are a number of rabbis and teachers in the Jewish community that have said what is happening in Iran and Trump's statement...this could be that," he said, referring to a long-held rabbinic teaching that "if you see Persia fall to Rome... expect the footsteps of the Messiah."

In that tradition, "Rome" is understood not as ancient Italy, but as the West—and in our time, particularly the United States. He added, "Whether you like President Trump or don't like President Trump, we are not talking politics—we are talking prophecy."

Persia in Ezekiel's End-Time War

From Scripture itself, Iran emerges as a key player in the conflict described in Ezekiel 38–39, known as the War of Gog and Magog. "Persia, Kush, and Put... will come against Israel," Ezekiel prophesied (Ezek. 38:5). "Iran or Persia plays a key role in the end-time attack," he noted. "Therefore, it is significant what happens in Persia."

But biblical prophecy doesn't stop at conflict—it connects to conditions. Ezekiel foresaw a time when Israel would dwell securely in its land before the attack. The Hebrew word for "security," Sobel noted, carries the numerical value 86, the same as the Hebrew year 5786, which marks the year Israel has just entered. "I believe one of the things we could potentially see is the beginning of this realignment of the Middle East," he said.

The Iron Kingdom and 2026

The year 2026 also arises in the discussion—not politically, but prophetically.

He pointed to Daniel's visions of the four empires, where the fourth kingdom—Rome—is symbolized by iron. "From the days of Daniel to the coming of the Messiah, there will be four kingdoms," he explained. "Rome is associated with iron...and this is the year of iron."

Rome's modern expression, he argued, is the West—led today by America. “Trump is the leader of the free world,” he said. “He is the head of Rome right now,” embodying what Daniel described as a crushing, global, ordered power.

Watching and Discerning the Season

Sobel did not conclude with speculation, but with exhortation. “Reading the signs is wisdom,” he said, citing Jesus' words about the fig tree. “Discerning the times and seasons is a responsibility, not a hobby.”

Right now, this unfolding chapter has the attention of believers around the world who continue to watch, pray and discern for what may come next.

Trump Finalizes Board of Peace: Is the Stage Being Set for Prophetic Fulfillment?

The Board of Peace for the Middle East has been finalized. Are we now entering into a direct end times prophecy?

In a post on Truth Social, President Donald Trump announced that the Board of Peace had officially been formed.

It is my Great Honor to announce that THE BOARD OF PEACE has been formed. The Members of the Board will be announced shortly, but I can say with certainty that it is the Greatest and Most Prestigious Board ever assembled at any time, any place. Thank you for your attention to this matter!

Following this post, the president discussed how Turkey, Qatar and Egypt are also supporting this next phase of the Gaza Peace Plan.

As Steve Witkoff announced, we have OFFICIALLY entered the next phase of Gaza's 20-Point Peace Plan!

Since the Ceasefire, my team has helped deliver RECORD LEVELS of Humanitarian Aid to Gaza, reaching Civilians at HISTORIC speed and scale. Even the United Nations has acknowledged this achievement as UNPRECEDENTED. These results have set the stage for this next phase.

As Chairman of the Board of Peace, I am backing a newly appointed Palestinian Technocratic Government, the National Committee for the Administration of Gaza, supported by the Board's High Representative, to govern Gaza during its transition. These Palestinian leaders are unwaveringly committed to a PEACEFUL future!

With the support of Egypt, Turkey, and Qatar, we will secure a COMPREHENSIVE Demilitarization Agreement with Hamas, including the surrender of ALL weapons, and the dismantling of EVERY tunnel. Hamas must IMMEDIATELY honor its commitments, including the return of the final body to Israel, and proceed without delay to full Demilitarization.

As I have said before, they can do this the easy way, or the hard way. The people of Gaza have suffered long enough. The time is NOW.

The confirmation of the expected 15 members of the Board of Peace is likely to come later this month during the World Economic Forum at Davos.

Scripture has long pointed to a moment when global authority, international alliances, and Middle Eastern peace would converge into a single narrative. The prophets spoke of a coming covenant, a fragile peace, a rebuilding and ultimately a shaking (Dan. 9:27; 1 Thess. 5:3).

For decades, these ideas have lived in sermons and study halls. Now, they are appearing in headlines.

Whether this Board of Peace becomes the mechanism for lasting stability or a temporary ceasefire remains to be seen. But one thing is becoming undeniably clear: the world is no longer operating on a purely political timeline. It is moving on a prophetic note. Pieces that once seemed disconnected are now fitting together with uncanny precision. Nations that once had no role in the biblical story are suddenly at its center.

As this board steps onto the global stage, the real question may not be what comes next politically, but what comes next prophetically.

Iranian Pastor's Harrowing Cry: The Underground Church Pleads for Help as Massacre Unfolds America is facing a profound cultural, political and spiritual crisis. Rev. Franklin Graham believes the only answer is national repentance and unified prayer.

Speaking in a recent interview with CBN News, Graham revealed that the idea for a national call to prayer began when California pastor Jack Hibbs urgently reached out to him. "Franklin, I think we ought to do something," Hibbs wrote to him in the middle of the night. Graham agreed, explaining, "Our nation has fallen so far from God and His truth."

Graham described a culture spiraling into confusion, pointing to the Supreme Court arguments over biological sex and sports. "They asked one of the people arguing for men to be in women's private space, 'give us a definition of a woman,' he couldn't do it," Graham said. "Why are they even listening to this? They can't even define what a woman is."

Beyond America's internal chaos, Graham sees global instability rising at an alarming pace: “Iran right now is burning... Venezuela, Cuba, Russia, Ukraine, Gaza... it seems like the world is about to implode.”

For Graham, the answer is not political first – it is spiritual. “We need to repent as a nation. And we need to repent of our own personal sins and ask God to forgive us.”

We Must Intercede for Our Leaders

Importantly, Graham is calling believers to pray for national leadership, whether they voted for them or not.

“We need to pray for those that are in leadership – President Donald J. Trump,” he said, adding leaders such as JD Vance, Pete Hegseth, Marco Rubio, and Kristi Noem to that list. “People may say, ‘Well, Franklin, I didn’t vote for the guy.’ Well, it doesn’t matter. He’s our president.”

Graham emphasized their decisions now carry consequences far beyond politics, arguing they are under immense pressure as they make “critical decisions” that will affect the nation’s future.

Are We Seeing Prophetic Signs?

When asked about biblical prophecy, Graham didn’t hesitate: “Most people who read the Bible and study Scripture feel that we’re in those last days.” While acknowledging no one knows the timing, he believes Scripture commands believers to pay attention: “Christ could return at any minute... we need to be ready.”

Referencing Jesus’ parable of the 10 virgins, Graham warned against complacency: “They knew the bridegroom was coming, but they just weren’t ready... We need to make sure our house is in order.”

Revival or Decline? Both Are Happening

Graham acknowledged the recent spike in youth conversions and spiritual hunger but warned against assuming it means the nation is turning around. “Nowhere in the Scripture does it talk about at the end times there’s going to be some great revival,” he noted. “I see things are going to go from bad to worse.”

Yet God is still moving. Graham pointed to the late Charlie Kirk as an example of a young leader who boldly embraced Christ near the end of his life, impacting millions through his death and testimony. “God’s at work... His Jesus Christ is on the way. He’s returning. So let’s be ready.”

The Power of Prayer

For Graham, prayer is not symbolic – it is warfare. “Prayer is our opportunity to go directly into the presence of Almighty God,” he said, pointing to Ephesians 6. Using Jesus’ own model for prayer, he urged believers to align with God’s will rather than their own political preferences: “Not our will... but His will.”

If millions would pray, Graham believes God would intervene in this moment of global shaking: “God hears prayer... let’s not be guilty of not praying.”

Trump Moves Toward the Insurrection Act, Sparking a New Era in America

We may be on the brink of a new America.

As the Minnesota fraud scandal and clashes with ICE agents continue to escalate between left-leaning protestors and law enforcement, the president just made himself very clear about what could come next: the Insurrection Act.

Writing on Truth Social, the president stated:

If the corrupt politicians of Minnesota don't obey the law and stop the professional agitators and insurrectionists from attacking the Patriots of ., who are only trying to do their job, I will institute the INSURRECTION ACT, which many Presidents have done before me, and quickly put an end to the travesty that is taking place in that once great State. Thank you for you attention to this matter! President DJT

This comes after Minnesota Gov. Tim Walz encouraged Minnesotans to continue to clash with ICE agents violently.

“This long ago stopped being a matter of immigration enforcement. Instead, it's a campaign of organized brutality against the people of Minnesota by our own federal government,” Walz said in an address.

Walz pointed to the death of Renee Nicole Good after she was shot by an ICE agent when she rammed him with her vehicle. He then told Trump, “You’ve done enough.”

America is approaching a hinge point in history, and Minnesota may be the place where the door finally swings. As lawlessness is celebrated and those tasked with upholding order are mocked, restrained or resisted, the clash between civil authority and spiritual authority is becoming impossible to ignore.

Scripture warns that in the last days “lawlessness will increase” and people would call evil good and good evil – and for many watching what is unfolding in Minnesota right now, that warning feels less theoretical and more like a headline.

Whether critics like it or not, the nation is being forced to choose between chaos and order, rebellion and restraint, anarchy and accountability. And in moments like these, history reveals a pattern: God often exposes the cracks in a nation before He heals it.

Candace Owens Sets Off Frenzy After Claiming Charlie Kirk Was a Time Traveler

Candace Owens continues to make shocking allegations regarding the life and death of Charlie Kirk.

In a video, Owens claims that Kirk was a time traveler who had been managed by agents throughout his life.

“Why did Charlie think he was a time traveler?” Owens asks. “He said, as I showed you in earlier messages, he was a time traveler, and he had to find me.”

She then asked whether that was something people just said to their friends in texts. She claims she did not emphasize these points when he said it to her, but that she is now considering the possibility that Kirk can travel through time and space.

“It came to fruition, [the] other parts. He did die young. Why did he think that him dying young was necessary in order to change things?” Owens asked. “He did die young, it is related to Turning Point ‘m totally occupied by this.”

“What is reality, actually?” she continued. “You cannot just pretend that all of this is one big, unhappy coincidence.”

Owens then makes her way into the next claim: That agents managed Kirk.

“It’s entirely plausible, I think, plausible that they knew something about Charlie, and that’s why they had him marked and had him monitored and had him likely followed since he was young. And maybe they thought, agents, think that if they swarmed him and they stayed with him, pretend to be his friend, that ultimately they could control Charlie and perhaps change an outcome.”

Candace Owens is now pushing that Charlie Kirk was a TIME TRAVELLER – and that he had "AGENTS" (yes, like the Matrix) monitoring him from childhood – and that he was killed because he tried to DISTURB space-time continuum. No, I'm not kidding.

– Nathan Livingstone (MilkBarTV) (@TheMilkBarTV) January 15, 2026

Owens then further claimed that, at one point, she had “agents” managing her life, something she says she did not realize at the time. She also believes that Kirk began to “push back” against the narrative of a controlled life.

“They seem to have panicked,” she said.

While Owens’ allegations make for viral content and speculative intrigue, Christians must resist the temptation to be discipled by conspiracies, no matter how sensational or emotionally charged they may sound. Our responsibility is not to chase every narrative we hear, but to test it. Paul’s words to the Thessalonians remain a safeguard for this hour: “Test everything; hold fast what is good” (1 Thess. 5:21). That means every documentary, every thread, every exposé, every political claim, and every theory – no matter how persuasive – must be weighed against the Word of God, the character of God and the peace of the Holy Spirit.

In a world addicted to speculation, believers must remain addicted to Scripture. Our discernment is not sharpened by conspiracies but by truth. And as the noise grows louder in the days ahead, those who refuse to trade discernment for drama will become a beacon of clarity in a culture drowning in confusion.
