

Jonathan Ross Identified As ICE Agent Linked to Minneapolis Shooting

The federal immigration raid that rocked Minneapolis on Jan. 7 has now taken a sharp turn after the identification of the ICE agent who fatally shot 37-year-old Renee Nicole Good. This took place after she attempted what the Department of Homeland Security said was “to run a law enforcement officer over” with her vehicle.

According to Newsweek, the agent involved was Jonathan Ross, who was previously “involved in the June 17, 2025, apprehension of Roberto Carlos Munoz-Guatemala, a convicted sex offender originally from Guatemala, in Bloomington, Minnesota.” The outlet noted that Ross had previously been injured during that arrest in Bloomington in which he was “dragged roughly 100 yards down the street before breaking free.”

Good’s death occurred during what the Department of Homeland Security described as a large-scale immigration enforcement initiative in southern Minneapolis.

The Guardian reported that federal agents “approached Good’s SUV during an immigration sweep.” Following this incident, protests erupted across Minneapolis.

As Charisma Media reported, both President Trump and Vice President JD Vance have spoken out about the incident, with Vance calling it “an attack on federal law enforcement” and “an attack on the American people.”

Unlocking the Story Behind Scripture: The Missing Perspective That Explains the Bible's Entire Storyline

When most Americans think of Greenland, they picture an icy, remote rock at the top of the world—far removed from the battles of politics, geopolitics, or prophecy. But political commentator Glenn Beck says we may be missing the point entirely. According to him, Greenland is becoming the quiet centerpiece of a much bigger story, and President Donald Trump knows exactly what he's doing.

The discussion, surprisingly, begins not with ice or politics, but with the power of the spoken word.

"He never says we are a failing empire," Beck said. "This week... I feel like we are on the verge of being a renewed nation with a hundred-year story... as amazing as the last hundred years." One of the key elements Trump keeps verbalizing into reality, Beck says, is Greenland. "We need Greenland. Greenland should be a protectorate."

But why Greenland? For Beck, the answer is straightforward and unsettling: “It is strategically placed in such a place that it is essential for us if you are preparing for war.” The Arctic is the emerging global battleground—militarily, economically and technologically. Greenland’s massive reserves of rare earth minerals are critical for batteries, energy systems, weapons platforms and AI technology. “If we bought it like we did Alaska... It’s a very good deal for the United States,” he added.

Beck believes Trump is preparing for multiple forms of conflict: “He is preparing us for a couple of things—a digital war... a currency war... and I think a hot war.” He points to Trump’s pressure on the military industrial complex, his energy dominance agenda, and new alliances with nations like Argentina and Venezuela.

In a separate report by the New York Post, a map shows distances from Nuuk, Greenland, to other nations whose resources and presence could affect the United States. While Copenhagen, Denmark, which currently claims the land, is 4,000 miles from Greenland, Washington is half that distance at 2,000 miles.

Yet this isn’t about empire building. “I don’t think he is carving out an empire,” Beck insisted. “I think he is carving out the western world” for survival against a rising axis of China, Russia, Iran and North Korea—what Beck referred to as “CRINK.”

For Beck, the Greenland question carries a warning: history teaches that when empires wobble, conflicts ignite. And right now, “for the first time in human history, every nation is collapsing for the same reasons at the same time.”

Whether prophetic or geopolitical, his conclusion is chillingly clear: Greenland isn't a joke. It's preparation.

And preparation implies something is coming.

DHS Claims Renee Nicole Good Was Tracking ICE Agents Before Shooting

The Department of Homeland Security is reporting that the woman killed by an Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) agent had been “stalking and impeding” agents throughout the day.

In a report by Fox News, it was discussed how the woman, Renee Nicole Good, was given multiple instructions to get out of her car to stop the obstruction of law enforcement, but she would not stop before attempting to ram an agent with her vehicle.

According to DHS, the event is being classified as “domestic terrorism.” In the video of the incident, Good is seen putting her car in reverse after agents asked her to “get out of the car.” DHS Secretary Kristi Noem noted that Good was attempting to “weaponize her vehicle” and “attempted to run a law enforcement officer over.”

As the AP noted, other videos of the shooting showed a woman sitting close to the car saying, “That’s my wife, I don’t know what to do!”

In a statement to Truth Social, President Donald Trump wrote:

I have just viewed the clip of the event which took place in Minneapolis, Minnesota. It is a horrible thing to watch. The woman screaming was, obviously, a professional agitator, and the woman driving the car was very disorderly, obstructing and resisting, who then violently, willfully, and viciously ran over the ICE Officer, who seems to have shot her in self defense. Based on the attached clip, it is hard to believe he is alive, but is now recovering in the hospital. The situation is being studied, in its entirety, but the reason these incidents are happening is because the Radical Left is threatening, assaulting, and targeting our Law Enforcement Officers and ICE Agents on a daily basis. They are just trying to do the job of MAKING AMERICA SAFE. We need to stand by and protect our Law Enforcement Officers from this Radical Left Movement of Violence and Hate!

PRESIDENT DONALD J. TRUMP

As Fox also reported, Republicans on Capitol Hill are asking President Trump to use the Insurrection Act against Minnesota’s Gov. Tim Walz for threatening to use the National Guard as a response to the incident. Walz previously said, “We do not need any further help from the federal government. To Donald Trump and Kristi Noem, you’ve done enough. I’ve issued a warning to prepare the Minnesota National Guard.”

Vice President JD Vance has also spoken on the matter during a press conference where he stated, “This was an attack on federal law enforcement. This was an attack on law and order. This was an attack on the American people.”

President Trump’s ‘Doomsday Plane’ Just Landed in DC: What Is Washington Preparing For?

Is Washington preparing for something big?

The Daily Mail reported that President Trump’s plane, used for crisis response, made its way to Washington, D.C., this week. The plane, often called the “Doomsday Plane,” is a Boeing E-4B used during times of peril. As the outlet described it is “built to survive a nuclear attack while coordinating military action.”

Sounds scary, right?

As the Daily Mail noted, flight-tracking sites recorded the plane leaving Omaha, Nebraska, before it landed at Camp

Springs near D.C.

While the flight's purpose is unknown, it could be due to anything from a training exercise to a routine schedule. The article further pointed out that the flight of this mysterious plane came right after Nicolás Maduro's capture.

For believers, events like these are more than just headlines—they are signals to pay attention. Jesus warned that in the last days there would be “wars and rumors of wars” and a world marked by upheaval, geopolitical shaking and rapid shifts that would leave nations unsettled.

The Bible doesn't tell us to panic, but it does tell us to discern the times. If Washington is preparing for “something big,” then the Church should be preparing as well. Not out of fear, but to be ready for when Jesus finally returns.

Mario Murillo Warns NYC Is

About to Experience a Major Spiritual Shift in 2026

A recent prophetic message by Gabe Poirot is sounding the alarm for believers who are discerning the times and seasons for 2026.

In the video, Poirot explains that while he was praying and seeking the Lord about the year 2026, he was repeatedly drawn to Scripture—specifically John 20:24–26, the moment when the resurrected Jesus appears to the disciples eight days after Thomas first doubted His resurrection. “Eight days later, the disciples were together again... Though the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them,” the passage reads.

Poirot says the Lord impressed upon him that this verse carried prophetic weight for 2026—not as a prediction of a specific date for Christ’s return, but as a revelation that His presence would be “among” His people in a profound and tangible way. “This will be the year that I will be among them,” Poirot claims the Lord spoke to him.

Poirot repeatedly clarifies that no one knows the day or hour of Christ’s return. However, he emphasizes that 2026 could be a year marked by divine convergence—an intensified awareness and manifestation of God’s presence. “It could be the year He returns,” he says. “But even if He doesn’t, it may be the year where you finally encounter His presence.”

To reinforce this call to spiritual readiness, Poirot cites John 6:26–27, where Jesus warns against pursuing temporary, earthly provision while neglecting eternal life. He cautions that distraction may cause many to miss what God is doing in this season. “A lot of people are distracted... and you might just miss the very presence of Christ that wants to encounter you,” he says.

Poirot also explores the significance of the number 26, which in Hebrew tradition is associated with the sacred name of God. Poirot notes that the numerical value tied to God’s revealed name adds to the sense that 2026 may be prophetically aligned with divine revelation, covenant and presence. “It’s not just a symbol,” he says. “It represents His very personhood.”

Drawing parallels to Exodus 3, where God reveals Himself to Moses at the burning bush, Poirot suggests that 2026 could be a year of restoration—one in which God “comes down” to bring His people back to Himself. “What if this could be the year of restoration?” he asks.

No matter what specific events come our way in 2026, Poirot gives a clear exhortation: seek Him now. “Blessed are those who believe without seeing.” For those with ears to hear, the call is unmistakable—prepare, awaken and respond to what God may be doing in this pivotal hour.

Nick Shirley Claims Spotlight Turned on Him After He Exposed Alleged Minnesota Daycare Fraud

Independent journalist Nick Shirley is drawing national attention after appearing on The Shawn Ryan Show, where he detailed his on-the-ground investigation into alleged fraud involving Minnesota daycare centers receiving taxpayer funding.

In the wide-ranging interview, Shirley explained how what began as routine reporting escalated into a controversial exposé that has drawn federal scrutiny, political backlash and online firestorms.

According to Shirley, he traveled to Minnesota and visited numerous daycare facilities that were listed as operational and receiving substantial public funds for childcare and social services.

“When you physically go there, there’s nobody inside,” Shirley told Ryan. He claimed that several of the facilities appeared vacant, with no children present, no active staff and no visible evidence of daily operations. “They can’t even give you a brochure to enroll a child,” he said, arguing that the situation raised serious red flags.

Shirley told Ryan that in just one day of filming, his team documented what he believes could amount to tens of millions of dollars in fraudulent claims. He stressed that fraud itself was not a new discovery, but that its scale had never been brought to the public's attention in such a visible way. "Nobody had actually brought it to a national level where people could see it with their own eyes," he said.

During the interview, Shirley claimed that after his videos went viral, attention shifted from investigating the daycare operators to investigating him. "Now it's a lot more dangerous. I have to have 24/7 security with me because pirates are after me essentially," he told Ryan.

The controversy intensified after the footage was amplified online by major accounts, including Elon Musk, which propelled the story into a broader political and cultural debate.

For Christians however, the discussion raises deeper questions about truth, justice and discernment in the digital age. Scripture calls Christians to walk in the light (John 3:21) and to pursue justice carefully and without partiality.
