

Wired to Admire

Hard-wired into man's genetic code is a strong desire for beauty.

But unrealistic expectations are short-circuiting God's design.

Let's face it, there's just something wired into the male psyche that causes the passionate admiration and pursuit of beauty.

Virtually every man has at least once in his lifetime fantasized about snagging the "perfect woman." And while any gathering of red-blooded males might stir up a healthy argument over which woman deserves the title, author and Christian "sexpert" Doug Rosenau says that most men have a hard time narrowing it down to one person.

Solo Act

Toby McKeehan isn't content to stay within the rigid confines of the Christian music scene. His passion is to influence culture with a sound all his own.