✘ The Los Angeles Times is reporting that gunmen killed Pakistan's only Christian cabinet member Wednesday in a hail of bullets outside his house in Islamabad.

"The assassination of Shahbaz Bhatti, the country's minority affairs minister, underscored the reach of extremism in a Muslim, nuclear-armed country founded on the principles of minority inclusion, as well as the government's inability to protect its minorities," the Times reports.

An Islamic Republic, Pakistan is #11 on the Open Doors World Watch List—and this is not the first government assassination in 2011.

Muslim Mob Attacks Christian Missionaries in Ethiopia

✘ When Meda Welabu University students set out on a short-term mission trip to Ethiopia, they probably never imagined the evil awaiting them in the Oma village.

One can imagine the excitement of the young missionaries as they started distributing Bibles and sharing the love of Christ with Muslims in the Bale province.

Then it happened.

One of the Oma villagers started arguing with the missionaries. The situation quickly escalated as the man's anger incited a mob that attacked the students. The Muslim mob was shouting "Allah Akbar," which means "God is great" as they stoned the Christians and beat them with rods.

ArtScroll Publishes Jewish Bible for English Readers

✘ At Charisma magazine, we're celebrating the Year of the Bible. So when news about a Jewish Bible crossed our desk, we wanted to be sure you are among the first to know about it.

For believers dedicated to understanding Jewish thoughts on Scripture, ArtScroll Mesorah Publications just rolled out a new Bible. The "ArtScroll English Tanach" is a Jewish Bible that offers classical rabbinic thought.

The Hebrew term "Tanach" refers to all 24 books of the Jewish Bible. In fact, the term Tanach is formed from the first letter of each Hebrew word for each of the the three major divisions of the Bible: Torah, Nevi'im, and Ketuvim, the five books of Moses, the Prophets, and the Writings. the Ketuvim includes the Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and other books of wisdom.

'The Chicago Agreement' to Make Ministry More Effective

✘ Most believers who have explored a large college campus in the United States have probably noticed the number of campus ministries there as well. From InterVarsity Christian Fellowship to Campus Crusade for Christ, there are several ministries reaching out to the expanding minds of college students.

"We're all organizations that are focused on evangelism," says InterVarsity's Jim Lundgren of 17 college ministries in particular. "We're all committed to discipleship and to advancing the world mission of the church. But we all have our distinctives in various ways which we feel God is using on campuses."

As with any conglomerate of ministries, though, a similar purpose with just a few different ways of doing things could easily cause problems—even in the body of Christ. With this in mind, several campus ministries met decades ago to ensure that squabbles did not break out over disagreements.

Human Trafficking Spikes in Post-quake Haiti

✘ The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund recently released a disturbing report indicating that an ongoing problem in Haiti is getting worse.

Experts say there's been a spike in Haiti's post-quake child trafficking.

Desperate parents, faced with their inability to feed, clothe or educate their children, are selling them for as little as $1.20 to the traffickers who promise a better life for the kids.

But the reality is quite different. Some wind up in prostitution, but UNICEF's report indicates that the trafficked children are also feeding an illegal adoption market.

Murder of Pastor in Honduras Raises Security Questions

The murder of a prominent pastor in San Pedro Sula, Honduras, this week has focused attention on that country's alarming murder rate and the regular threats that Christian workers there receive.

Pastor Carlos Roberto Marroquín, 41, was shot to death by two assailants as he walked his two Schnauzer dogs in the Colonia Aurora neighborhood near his house on Monday (Feb. 21).

Initially police said they believed theft of the dogs was the reason for the murder, but that they were investigating other possible motives. Officers said two gunmen in a white car pulled up beside the pastor and tried to snatch the dogs, shooting Marroquín when he resisted, but the city's chief prosecutor, Marlene Bane, yesterday affirmed that witnesses said the gunmen had demanded Marroquín's cell phone, not the dogs, according to El Herald newspaper.
