

When Your Child Says They See Demons, Take Them Seriously

For many parents, the topic of seeing demons often is chalked up to a wild imagination and not a spiritual attack.

And sometimes kid's imaginations do get the better of them; they are children, after all.

But what happens when children start telling their parents that they are seeing monsters, and insist they are real?

In a recent video, the YouTube channel "Jesse Speaks" shared a video of a mother's personal experience as a child being tormented by demons, and that her own daughter had such terrifying experiences as well.

Unlike her parents, whom she deemed "lukewarm Christians," this mother knows the power in the name of Jesus.

"When your children come to you and say they are seeing monsters in their bedroom at night, believe them," the unnamed mother implores.

As many within the Christian church, and the world, have abandoned the belief in the spiritual realm and the warfare that takes place within it, they have unwittingly opened the doors for spiritual and demonic oppression in their lives.

How? Because they don't teach what the Bible says about demons, spiritual warfare and our power over them.

"My parents were lukewarm Christians. We talked about Jesus every now and then, but it wasn't a big topic of conversation. And so as a child, I saw demons," she continues. "And there were several times in the middle of the night that they would threaten me and they would try to attack me.”

Jesus believed in spiritual warfare and deliverance from the demonic, evident in the Gospels. So why would Christians today dismiss this topic of discussion as preposterous or simply view it as irrelevant, if they even view it as a topic of discussion at all?

“People will discount the spiritual realm. They’ll lock it [away]. So when I took these things to my mom, she didn’t believe me,” shares the mother. “She actually ended up taking me to a therapist, and she asked me what I was seeing. When I told her, she looked at me and she says, ‘No, you don’t see these things.’”

“I didn’t feel safe in sharing it with anyone.”

Having these types of negative experiences as a child can keep the spiritual door open not only for parents to be terrorized by demons, but for their children as well. Because there has been no warfare against the enemy attacking them, and without any resistance or pleading of the name of Jesus, the enemy will keep attacking over and over again.

“My daughter is a strong seer in the spiritual realm. She started to see similar things to what I had seen as a child,” she continues. “So I taught her ‘Go! In the name of Jesus.’ She started to understand her authority and walk in it [to] some point now where it doesn’t happen anymore.”

“[Parents], please teach your children the power of the name [of Jesus].”

When parents train up their children in the Lord, they will be equipped to fight the spiritual battle that the Bible teaches us is very real. This will require diligence on the parent's part, but by doing so, our children are exposed to the power of the name of Jesus Christ.

Greg Locke: You Better Get Back on God's Side

The world is in such turmoil at the moment, it is easy to get caught up in it and get swept away by the deception spreading across the globe.

But amid all of the media attacks on Israel, the university protests calling for the eradication of Israel and even those claiming to be Christians turning their backs on God's chosen people, Pastor Greg Locke is standing up to all the critics and haters and warns them that they are sealing their own fate.

Locke made his stance known to any who doubted where he stands when it comes to Israel, and that the church is in danger of reaping God's curse and judgment upon itself.

All because people have forgotten about the Abrahamic Covenant.

The Lord God entered into a covenant promise with the first patriarch, Abraham, in Genesis 12 which reads, "Go from your country, your family, and your father's house to the land that I will show you. I will make of you a great nation; I will bless you and make your name great, so that you will be a blessing. I will bless them who bless you and curse him who curses you, and in you all families of the earth will be blessed."

Meanwhile, the replacement theory that the Christian church has somehow taken over God's promises from the Israelite people has infected Christendom and led people into cursing national Israel, essentially sealing their fate.

"The last days division in the 'Church' will be between those that unflinchingly stand and support Israel and those who are so woke and non-discerning that they stand with media-infused Palestinian oppression," Locke wrote in a Facebook post.

"The closer we get to the return of the LORD, the more Israel will be fiercely hated. It's a fact! It's a Biblical promise! True followers of Jesus, will do what Jesus taught us to do...STAND WITH ISRAEL. God has not cast off His people, but the lukewarm and weak Church will do just that," he continued.
