

2023: The Year Corporate Wokeness Crashed

In 2023, the business world witnessed a stark contrast between companies that embraced leftist ideologies and those that pushed back with traditional values. While corporate giants like Disney and Target suffered major financial losses due to their controversial marketing strategies, a counter-movement of Christian entrepreneurs emerged, determined to bring light to the darkness that has enveloped some corners of American businesses.

In a year that saw Budweiser losing billions due to their teaming up with TikToker Dylan Mulvaney, a man who parades around as a woman, Target decided to join them in the waters of a national boycott, which also saw the company lose billions of dollars.

Target drew significant criticism for partnering with a member of the LGBTQ community who openly promoted Satan and all the associated ideologies. The retailer's "tuck-friendly" swimwear line aimed at children further fueled the backlash. Despite the financial consequences of its actions, the company has continued to promote its "Christmas Pride" collection, seemingly disregarding the values of their customers.

Disney, too, faced a significant decline in 2023, with its movies consistently underperforming at the box office. The House of Mouse's decision to infuse radical feminism, anti-male rhetoric and LGBTQ ideology into its films has alienated the brand's once-loyal family audience.

And that has become evident in the flops at the box office that they spent billions on creating such as Lightyear, Strange World, Indiana Jones and the Dial of Destiny, Haunted Mansion, The Marvels and the newest flop to join the list:

Wish.

In another shocking example of corporate promotion of the occult, Kentucky Fried Chicken boldly displayed posters of the demon Lilith to promote the release of the game Diablo IV, which features demonic imagery, blood sacrifices and other disturbing content. The widespread acceptance of this marketing campaign by the public has led to concerns about the spiritual consequences of such media consumption.

But there is good news to combat these spirits that have infiltrated the business world, and that is the victory of Jesus Christ.

People are recognizing what these companies are doing. It has become so obvious and the evil is so tangible that even non-Christians have called them out, even if they do not fully understand the spiritual implications behind these events.

Despite the darkness that has pervaded the business world, there is hope. Companies like Public Square, led by CEO Michael Seifert, are taking a stand against anti-family values by offering bonuses to employees who have children or choose to adopt. This initiative aims to create stronger families and promote the importance of traditional values in the workplace.

The year 2023 has demonstrated the need for Christians to be more active in all aspects of society, including the digital, business, political and sports worlds. By engaging in these spheres, Christians can bring the light of Jesus to a world that is increasingly shrouded in darkness.

As we look forward to 2024, the question remains: Will Christians choose to support companies that align with their values, or will they continue to contribute to the success of businesses that openly oppose God's teachings? The choice is in the hands of each individual, and the consequences of their actions will shape the future of the corporate world and the values it promotes.

Church Faces International Backlash Over Heretical Nativity Scene

A church in Italy has recently come under fire for its “dangerous” and “blasphemous” nativity scene featuring a second woman—in place of Joseph—alongside the Virgin Mary and baby Jesus. The Church of Saints Peter and Paul, located in Capocastello di Mercogliano, is now facing criticism for its “inclusive” nativity scene, as reported by Reuters.

The Rev. Vitaliano Della Sala, the priest behind the idea, stated, “I wanted to show that families are no longer just the traditional ones.” He further explained that the display aimed to represent “children of separated and divorced people, gay couples, single people and young mothers” present in their parishes.

In response to the controversy, Della Sala referred to Pope Francis' recent decision to allow priests to bless same-sex couples. The nativity scene, which included one of the Mary figures draped in rainbow colors, sparked an online petition for its removal.

Pro-Vita & Famiglia, a pro-life group, initiated the petition, calling on the bishop to take down the “LGBT nativity scene with ‘two mothers.’” The petition claims the scene distorts the meaning of the holy family and is “blasphemous” and “provocative.” The group has garnered almost 25,000 signatures in support of its cause.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Sen. Maurizio Gasparri of the co-ruling Forza Italia party echoed the group’s sentiment, stating that the display “offends all those who always had respect and devotion for the Holy Family.” The pro-life group has even called it “dangerous, as well as shameful and blasphemous.”

In a world where the lines between right and wrong are increasingly blurred, it is not surprising to see the things of God being targeted and corrupted. The Bible warns us about this in Isaiah 5:20, “Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil, who exchange darkness for light, and light for darkness, who exchange bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!”

This incident is just one example of how Christianity and Judaism are constantly under attack, as Satan seeks to distort the truth and lead people astray. However, we must remain strong in our faith and stand firm against these heretical displays. As 1 Corinthians 15:58 states, “Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor in the Lord is not in vain.”

It is our duty as Christians to protect the integrity of our faith and the teachings of the Bible. We must not let the world’s corruption infiltrate the sacred and distort the true meaning of the birth of Jesus Christ.{eoa}

Archaeologists Make Groundbreaking Discoveries in 2023

In 2023, Israel witnessed a series of amazing archeological discoveries that brought the Bible to life, affirming the presence of Jesus and the unbroken presence of the Jewish people in the Holy Land for over 2,000 years. These findings have significant implications for Christians around the world, as they validate the Bible and reaffirm the historical events that took place in the region.

The Pool of Siloam

One of the most significant discoveries in Israel is the excavation of the Pool of Siloam. According to Pastor John Hagee, the founder and chairman of Christians United for Israel, this site is highly significant to Christians worldwide, as it is where Jesus healed a blind man (John 9) and where Jewish pilgrims cleansed themselves before entering the second temple.

The unearthing of eight steps descending into the Pool of Siloam, which coincided with the time Jesus walked through the Holy Land, further confirms the truth of Scripture. As Pastor

Terri Copeland Pearsons of Kenneth Copeland Ministries said, "Archeology, however, testifies to the truth or falsehood of what's been written. Without fail, the archeological discoveries around Israel, and most especially the City of David, confirm the truth and accuracy of the Bible."

Jerusalem Church Excavation

Roman experts recently finished weeks of precarious archaeological work in one of the most sensitive parts of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, a church near where many Christians believe Jesus was crucified, buried and rose from the dead and one of the world's oldest standing churches.

Media reports confirm that archaeologists from the Department of Antiquities at the University of Rome excavated the area around the Holy Edicule, or the main tabernacle. Archaeologists reportedly work around the clock for seven days and seven nights—from June 20-27—exploring the area in front of the Edicule, which is built on the site of the cave where Jesus is believed to have been buried.

Rare Biblical-Era Coin

Another groundbreaking discovery is the unearthing of a rare silver half-shekel coin from the time of the first Jewish revolt against the Romans over 2,000 years ago in the Judean desert. The coin is engraved in ancient Hebrew with the words "Holy Jerusalem" and is dated to A.D. 66/67.

This discovery debunks the falsehood that Jews "colonized" the biblical land with the rebirth of the Jewish state in 1948 and the Zionist movement in the late 1800s. It provides tangible evidence of the Jewish people's presence in the region before the establishment of Islam.

"One explanation for this find is that the Jerusalem-minted coin fell from the pocket of a rebel who escaped to the desert during the revolt—perhaps on his way to nearby En Gedi," says the Israel Antiquities Authority.

Ancient Stone With Prayers to Jesus

Archaeologists from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem recently made a remarkable discovery in Israel's Judean desert. Unearthed at a remote site dating back to the early sixth century, this Byzantine Greek inscription carries immense historical and religious significance.

Situated in an area accessible only by donkeys due to its lack of roads, the inscription adorns a building stone from an ancient monastery. Marked with a cross, it comprises a phrase paraphrasing the first two verses of Psalm 86: "Jesus Christ, guard me, for I am poor and needy." This remarkable find is unique in its grandeur and serves as a testament to the enduring power of faith.

Precious Gems Discovered in Israel

In a remarkable development, a family-owned company in Israel became the first to discover precious gems in the Holy Land. This discovery brings Bible verses to life, as the book of Isaiah states that Israel's foundations will be laid with sapphires and its borders with precious stones.

Ze'ev Orenstein, director of international affairs for the City of David Foundation in Jerusalem, emphasized the significance of these discoveries, saying, "For much of the world, over the last 2,000 years to present day, Jerusalem has represented a kind of spiritual and historical North Star or compass, guiding both literal and figurative pilgrims and travelers, near and far, on their quest to find meaning, purpose, faith and identity within their personal, communal and national lives; to connect their own lives to a story or mission bigger than themselves, to one which transcends the relatively short time any of us will spend upon the earth.”

These stunning archeological discoveries in Israel have brought the Bible to life, providing tangible evidence of the truth of Scripture and reaffirming the Jewish people’s unbroken presence in the Holy Land for over 2,000 years. These findings will undoubtedly continue to inspire and encourage Christians around the world to deepen their faith and connection to the Bible.

Worldwide Terror: Over 160 Christians Slaughtered During Christmas Celebrations

In a horrific turn of events, Nigerian Christians were targeted by terrorists during their Christmas celebrations, resulting in the deaths of over 160 innocent people. The coordinated attacks, which took place on Saturday night (Dec. 23) through Monday (Dec. 25), targeted predominantly Christian areas in Plateau state, Nigeria.

The assailants, believed to be a mix of criminal elements including ethnic Fulani herders and mercenaries from Chad or Niger, carried out the attacks in several villages such as NTV, Maiyanga, Ruku, Hurum, Darwat and Dares. The victims, mostly women, children and the elderly, were preparing for Christmas programs when the terrorists struck.

Local officials confirmed the attacks and stated that at least 160 people were slain. The attacks were described as “well-coordinated” and “unacceptable” by Plateau Gov. Caleb Mutfwang. The governor vowed to strengthen security agencies to tackle the insecurity in the state.

In addition to the loss of life, hundreds of houses were destroyed, and thousands were left wounded and displaced. The Christian Daily International-Morning Star News reported that the Rev. Solomon Gushe of Baptist Church in Dares village and nine of his family members were among those killed.

“In Bokkos LGA, 221 houses were set ablaze, 27 motorcycles and eight other motor vehicles were burned, and more than 79 persons were killed,” Alabo said, adding that in Barkin Ladi LGA, 17 deaths were initially recorded.

“Plateau Gov. Caleb Mutfwang on Monday (Dec. 25) said that at least 50 persons had been killed in Mangu and Bokkos counties in the prior 48 hours.”

Nigeria has been a hotbed for Christian persecution in recent years, with the country leading the world in Christians killed for their faith in 2022 with 5,014 deaths, according to the Open Doors' 2023 World Watch List report. The attacks on Christians are believed to be part of a larger effort to forcefully take over their lands and impose Islam as desertification has made it difficult for the Fulani herders to sustain their herds.

“Militants from the Fulani, Boko Haram, Islamic State West Africa Province (ISWAP) and others conduct raids on Christian communities, killing, maiming, raping and kidnapping for ransom or sexual slavery,” the WWL report details. “This year has also seen this violence spill over into the Christian-majority south of the nation. ... Nigeria’s government continues to deny this is religious persecution, so violations of Christians’ rights are carried out with impunity.”

As we mourn the loss of our brothers and sisters in Christ, we must also remember to pray and fast for those who are persecuted around the world. Here are three practical ways to help those in need:

- Support organizations that provide aid and resources to persecuted Christians.
- Raise awareness about the plight of persecuted Christians by sharing their stories and advocating for their rights.
- Encourage your local church to engage in global missions and support efforts to spread the gospel in areas where Christians are facing persecution.

As we celebrate the birth of our Savior, let us not forget those who are suffering for their faith. May we stand in solidarity with our persecuted brothers and sisters and work together to bring hope and healing to those in need.

Revival to Revolution: A

Prophetic Word for 2024

Pastor Tony Suarez, a renowned Christian leader and author, recently shared a powerful prophetic word for the year 2024. In an interview with Charisma News, Pastor Tony emphasized the importance of moving from revival to revolution in the body of Christ.

According to Suarez, the church has been declaring, prophesying and decreeing revival for years. However, he believes that revival is not coming, but rather, it is already here. The church is now at a pivotal moment in history, where it must take the current move of God and turn it into a revolution.

The first step in this process is to fan the flame of revival. Suarez encourages believers to continue seeking the presence of God and to keep the fire of revival burning in their hearts. However, he also stresses the importance of taking the next step and using this revival to bring about a true revolution in the world.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

This revolution must go beyond the four walls of the church and impact the world in a profound way. Suarez believes that this revolution will lead to a significant change in the world, including the transformation of nations known for their Islamic faith into nations known for their Christian faith.

In addition, Pastor Tony decrees that this revolution will bring about a Jesus revolution in the United States, where the fire of God will sweep into Congress and bring about a manifestation of the glory of God.

Suarez emphasizes the importance of using the gifts of the Holy Spirit to bring about this revolution. He encourages believers to pray for divine strategies on how to expand the kingdom and see revolution lead to victory in 2024.

As we approach 2024, let us heed the prophetic word of Pastor Tony Suarez and move from revival to revolution. Let us fan the flame of revival in our hearts and use it to bring about a true revolution in the world. May we see nations transformed, souls saved, and the glory of God manifested in our midst.

TD Jakes Denies Recent Sex-Based Allegations

Recent allegations against Bishop T.D. Jakes, the popular televangelist and leader of The Potter's House megachurch in Dallas, Texas, have caused a stir in the Christian community.

An unverified report has accused Jakes of being a frequent participant at sex parties hosted by music mogul Sean Combs, known as Diddy. However, a representative for Jakes has dismissed the claims as "unequivocally false and baseless."

As reported by The Christian Post, "Recent claims circulating on pockets of social media about Bishop T.D. Jakes are unequivocally false and baseless," Jordan A. Hora, executive director of public relations and communications for the T.D. Jakes Group, T.D. Jakes Ministries and The Potter's House, told The Christian Post in an exclusive statement Thursday.

“What has always been true, in the words of the late Pastor Charles H. Spurgeon, ‘If you want the truth to go round the world you must hire an express train to pull it; but if you want a lie to go round the world it will fly; it is as light as a feather, and a breath will carry it,’” Hora added.

The representative emphasized that the claims are based on false, sensationalized misrepresentations and deepfake photos.

The allegations against Jakes have been trending on social media platforms, and a YouTube channel known as Tuff News TV claimed that singer Cassie had turned over a burner phone belonging to the late model Kim Porter, which allegedly contained recordings of Diddy’s alleged “sex parties” attended by Jakes.

However, the source of these allegations has not been verified, and a representative from Tuff News TV did not respond to requests for comment from The Christian Post.

In response to the claims, Jakes’ team has emphasized its dedication to creating meaningful change for millions around the globe guided by the principles of compassion, service and ministry. The team has also highlighted Jakes’ long-standing reputation as a well-known figure in the Christian community, renowned for his books, philanthropic work and filling arenas across the globe with followers.

“As a filmmaker, executive producer and one of the pioneers of value-based movies, Bishop Jakes, in his role as CEO of T.D. Jakes Entertainment, paid respect to the former Chairman of Revolt during the celebration of his birthday,” Derrick Williams, executive vice president of TD Jakes Entertainment, who was also in attendance at the party, told The Christian Post.

“Bishop Jakes was in LA for important business meetings, and we felt that a quick appearance at the former Chairman of Revolt’s birthday event was the respectful thing to do since Bishop Jakes’ sermons are aired on the Revolt Network,” he explained.

“We both greeted the family, Bishop Jakes recorded a brief celebratory birthday video and left immediately to take our other scheduled meetings. Any accusation to the contrary is wholly unsubstantiated, unverified and false,” Williams insisted. “Bishop Jakes will continue to break down barriers and find relevant ways to tell faith-based and value-based stories. This and only this continues to be our North Star.”

The allegations against Bishop T.D. Jakes serve as a reminder for Christians to approach such claims with caution and to seek the truth. As the Bible teaches, it is important to show compassion and care for others, especially those who may be marginalized or in need. It is also important to remember that spreading false information can be harmful and that the truth should be sought out before making judgments or sharing unverified information.

IHOPKC Announces Permanent Separation From Mike Bickle

On the evening of Friday, Dec. 22, IHOPKC spokesman Eric Volz, managing director of The David House Agency, announced that the 24/7 prayer and worship ministry is “formally and permanently” separating from Mike Bickle.

In addition to Bickle’s complete removal from the organization in light of “new information,” IHOPKC Executive Director Stuart Greaves has resigned and stepped down from his role on the ministry’s board of directors.

“Since taking over management of the crisis, the executive committee has received new information to now confirm a level of inappropriate behavior on the part of Mike Bickle that requires IHOPKC to immediately, formally and permanently separate from him,” explains Volz. He adds that General Kurt Fuller, “who took over management of this crisis,” will be temporarily assuming the role of executive director as the investigation into alleged abuses continues.

This announcement comes after over a month of investigations taking place into allegations of spiritual and sexual abuse on the part of Bickle, who acknowledged sins in the past yet remained adamant the accusations of a “more intense” sexual nature were false, written in a public statement he released.

Whatever the details are that led to Bickle’s immediate removal, IHOPKC will not be sharing them, Volz explains, as “IHOPKC does not have permission from those individuals to share details, while they are being vetted further, by an independent investigator.”

IHOPKC, now helmed by Fuller, remains committed to a “thorough and complete investigation” into the clergy abuse allegations against Bickle.

While these accusations have rocked the Christian community, Volz pointed back to the one who can bring about total and complete healing and restoration to all of those affected by this harrowing saga, while administering justice for any and all wrongs potentially committed by spiritual leadership.

“We hold steadfast to Jesus, to His leadership,” Volz concludes. “He is our source and our great reward. The 24/7 prayer movement that God started will continue. IHOPKC will stand in the gap for Israel and ultimately continue to proclaim the beauty of Jesus until His glorious return.”

The alleged spiritual abuse at IHOPKC has shaken the community and brought to light the importance of transparency, accountability and healing within the church. As the investigation unfolds, it is crucial for Christians to come together in prayer and support for all those affected by this tragedy. Through unity, love and a commitment to justice, the church can emerge stronger and more resilient in its mission to serve God and its members. May the grace of God bring comfort and healing to the hearts of those who have been hurt, and may the truth be revealed for the greater good of the community.

Trump Pledges to Combat 'Anti-Christian Bias' in Second Term

Former President Donald Trump recently announced his plans to create a federal task force to combat what he called “anti-Christian bias” in the United States. The announcement came during a campaign event in Waterloo, Iowa, where Trump vowed to “end the war on Christians” if he is re-elected to a second term in the 2024 presidential election.

The promise comes at a time when Trump claims that under the Biden administration, “Christians and Americans of faith are being persecuted and government is being weaponized against religion like never before.” Trump cited a House Judiciary Committee report from August, which alleges that the FBI targeted traditional Catholics as “potential domestic terrorists,” and warned that Evangelicals could be targeted next.

“Evangelicals will not be far behind because when that starts, it starts happening on a very major scale,” he said. “When I’m back in the White House, never again will your government be used to target Christians and other religious beliefs.”

As part of his plan, Trump announced the creation of a federal task force aimed at “fighting anti-Christian bias” under what he called a “fully reformed” Justice Department. The task force would focus on investigating “all forms of illegal discrimination, harassment, and persecution against Christians in America.”

“They are going after Christians,” Trump added. “Americans of faith are not a threat to our country. Americans of faith are the soul of our country and they have been from the beginning.”

Trump also criticized President Biden for omitting the birth of Christ from his speech at the annual National Christmas tree lighting on Nov. 30. “He completely failed to even mention the birth of Jesus Christ, which is hard to do if you’re celebrating Christmas, right?” said Trump. “He didn’t mention Jesus Christ in his remarks, not for three years he hasn’t mentioned that, and barely mentioned God.”

In recent years, there have been several instances where the Biden administration’s Department of Justice \(DOJ\) has been accused of targeting Christians and Catholics. Among several notable cases:

1. Mark Houck: In September 2022, the FBI raided the home of Mark Houck, a pro-life activist and Catholic, for allegedly violating the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances (FACE) Act. Houck was accused of pushing a pro-choice activist outside an abortion clinic in Philadelphia in 2021. The raid, which involved armed agents, was criticized by many as an excessive use of force.
2. Catholic Charities: In March 2023, the Biden DOJ filed a lawsuit against Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Denver for allegedly discriminating against a transgender employee. The lawsuit claimed that the organization violated Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 by terminating the employee after they came out as transgender.

3. Religious exemptions for vaccine mandates: In November 2022, the Biden administration's vaccine mandate for healthcare workers was challenged by several religious organizations, including the Catholic Health Association of the United States. The DOJ defended the mandate, arguing that it did not violate the Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA). The Supreme Court ultimately blocked the mandate in January 2023.
4. Religious freedom in education: In March 2021, the Biden DOJ withdrew support for a lawsuit filed by a Christian student group at the University of Iowa, which claimed that the university had violated their First Amendment rights by deregistering the group for requiring its leaders to adhere to its religious beliefs. The DOJ's withdrawal of support was seen by some as a lack of commitment to religious freedom.

There have also been waves of outcry from the Christian community at the debauchery and sexual immorality that has found it's way into the Biden White House through such events as the annual Pride celebration and employees actions within the administration.

The Bible has a lot to say about corrupt leadership. The Word of God emphasizes the importance of justice and righteousness in those who hold positions of power. In the Old Testament, the prophet Isaiah condemns the leaders of Israel for their corruption, saying, "Your princes are rebellious and companions of thieves; everyone loves a bribe and follows after rewards," (Isa. 1:23). Similarly, the prophet Ezekiel denounces the corrupt leaders of his time, stating that they "have vexed the poor and needy and have oppressed the sojourner wrongfully," (Ezek. 22:29).

In the New Testament, Jesus Himself speaks out against the religious leaders of His time, calling them hypocrites and accusing them of neglecting the weightier matters of the law, such as justice and mercy (Matt. 23:23). The apostle Paul also addresses the issue of corrupt leadership, writing in Romans 13 that governing authorities are appointed by God and should be respected, but also that they are responsible for upholding justice and punishing wrongdoers.

Throughout the Bible, the message is clear: those in positions of power are held to a high standard, and those who abuse their authority and act unjustly will be held accountable.

Prophetic Insight for 2024: War, Turmoil and Spiritual Preparedness

In a recent Charisma News interview with Bishop Alan DiDio, he shared his prophetic insights for the year 2024. Drawing from biblical passages and current events, he discussed several key themes that believers should be aware of as they prepare for the future.

Bishop DiDio began by emphasizing the importance of being spiritually prepared for the coming years, as he believes that 2024 will bring both war and turmoil. He urged Christians to become intentional in their preparations, not just relying on hearing a message or sermon but actively engaging in spiritual growth and stewardship.

“I’m talking about intentional preparedness,” explains DiDio. “A lot of times, when Christians hear something, because they heard it they think they did it. Because we hear a sermon on evangelism, we felt like we did evangelism because we said ‘amen’ and we gave in the offering. But that is not sufficient. You must become an evangelist. You must minister the gospel.”

One of the most significant issues Bishop DiDio highlighted is the “Cold Civil War” within the body of Christ. He sees a division between the “House of David” and the “House of Saul,” which may become more apparent in 2024. He believes that this division is a spiritual parallel to the story of David and Saul in 1 Samuel 21. As believers, we must discern the times and make a conscious decision to stand on the side of David, walking in the new anointing of the Holy Spirit.

“I think people have sensed it, especially when we went into 2020,” DiDio says. “All of a sudden, people we thought were on the same side, they started to bifurcate and separate, and some bowed the knee in a sense to some of the political powers and suggestions that took place. As we go into 2024, it’s going to be on a wider scale.”

Bishop DiDio also discussed the changing of the guard within the church, as a new generation of voices rises to challenge the status quo. He pointed out that the political arena often mirrors these spiritual battles, and we should look to the natural world for signs of what is happening in the spiritual realm.

“There is coming in 2024, mega pastors, not all mega pastors [as] there are many wonderful mega pastors, but mega pastors who are more concerned about the crowd and appeasing the populace, than they are about speaking the prophetic Word of God,” DiDio says.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with

current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Another crucial aspect of Bishop DiDio's message is the importance of Israel as God's timepiece. He emphasized that we must pray for the peace of Jerusalem and the wholeness of Israel, not just for selfish reasons but as a way to align ourselves with God's prophetic calendar. He also encouraged believers to share the gospel with the Jewish people, as the church must prioritize this mission once again.

"Israel is God's timepiece. If we want to know what time it is on God's prophetic calendar, we look to the nation of Israel, and what the attacks we see going against the nation of Israel, again, those outward natural attacks are [a] reflection of a spiritual battle that's taking place," DiDio shares.

Bishop DiDio also addressed the growing interest in eschatology among believers and warned against some of the strange end-time theories that have recently emerged. He stressed the importance of grounding ourselves in biblical prophecy and finding seasoned voices to guide us through these times.

"Now, I've never seen so many crazy end time theories, as I'm seeing right now, from the idea that Israel and the church have somehow merged, and that the Church has replaced Israel to the idea that there's not going to be any actual literal reign of Christ, or a millennial reign of Christ, this this kind of foolishness that rises. I don't blame the individuals, I often think they're just simply repeating what they've learned or what they've been taught. And so it's important that we find seasoned voices," reveals DiDio.

Finally, Bishop DiDio shared his belief that we are currently in the Laodicean church, as described in Revelation chapter 3, the lukewarm church. He called for believers to repent and turn from their wicked ways, recognizing their need for God in preparation for the future.

“We’re on the verge of entering into Revelation chapter 4, but we’re in the midst of the Laodicean church, and God is calling us to repent, to turn from our wicked ways to recognize our need for Him. I think that’s where we are right now,” DiDio shares.

Bishop Alan DiDio’s prophetic insights for 2024 offer a unique perspective on the coming years, emphasizing the importance of spiritual preparation, discernment and a focus on Israel and the Jewish people. As believers, we must heed his call to remain grounded in biblical prophecy and to actively engage in our spiritual growth as we prepare for the challenges ahead.

Hogan expressed his joy and excitement on his social media, describing the day of his baptism as “the greatest day of my life.” He went on to say that his newfound dedication to Jesus has brought him a sense of peace and love, and that he no longer worries or holds any hate or judgment towards others.

The baptism was attended by his wife, Sky Daily Hogan, who was also baptized at the event. A video of the ceremony was shared by Hogan, giving his fans and followers a glimpse into the intimate moment.

Hogan's journey to this point has been a long and winding one. In a previous post earlier this year, he shared that he had accepted Christ as his savior at age 14. However, it wasn't until recently that he fully embraced his faith and allowed it to guide him in his daily life.

In the past, Hogan has shared Bible verses on his social media accounts and has even been seen wearing a T-shirt with the popular John 3:16 verse on it, which states: "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life."

I accepted Christ as my savior at 14yrs old, and the training, prayers and vitamins kept me in the game but now that I am one with God, the main event theme of surrender, service and love makes me the Real Main Event that can slam any giant of any size through the power of my Lord..
