

Historic: Record Numbers Gather at the Temple Mount as Jewish Worship Grows

A record number of Jewish worshippers are making their way to the Temple Mount in 2025, signaling a rising desire among the people of Israel to connect with their holiest site. This renewed interest reflects not only a cultural and religious awakening but also the stirring of biblical prophecy that points to the centrality of Jerusalem in the last days.

As reported by JNS, 54,231 Jews have ascended the Temple Mount since the start of 2025, including 7,500 during the Hebrew month of Av. More than 950 Jewish worshippers entered the site on Rosh Chodesh Elul alone, marking the start of the new Hebrew month. These numbers represent a 15% increase compared to last year's totals during Av, showing a steady and growing desire among the Jewish people to return to the place where the Temple once stood.

This movement has not gone unnoticed. Leaders such as Israeli National Security Minister Itamar Ben-Gvir have encouraged access to the Mount, and thousands have responded, particularly during significant days like Tisha B'Av, the national day of mourning. On that day alone this year, some 4,000 Jews visited and prayed on the Temple Mount, according to the report.

For those who look at today's events through the biblical lens, these developments carry prophetic significance. Scripture points to Jerusalem and the Temple Mount as central in the unfolding of end times prophecy. The renewed attention and consistent rise in worship at this sacred location serve as reminders that a push for the rebuilding of the Temple is becoming more energized. What once seemed distant is becoming more tangible as hearts turn again toward Zion.

At the same time, believers are reminded to stay discerning. As the world shifts and prophetic signs continue to appear, our calling remains unchanged. We are to proclaim the hope of the gospel, shining the light of Jesus Christ to a world that desperately needs Him. The growth of Jewish worship at the Temple Mount is a powerful sign of the times, but it also points us to the urgency of never ceasing to share the Good News.

From Genesis to Revelation: Why All of God's Word Still

Applies

For some believers today, the Old Testament is often viewed as outdated or irrelevant. A few assume that when Jesus came, the Hebrew Scriptures were set aside. But such thinking misses the foundation of the New Testament itself. Without the Law and the Prophets, the words and ministry of Jesus lose their depth and meaning. The Old Testament provides the framework through which the New Testament is fully understood.

The Word's of Jesus

Rabbi Kirt Schneider, speaking from the land of Israel, reminded believers of what Jesus Himself declared. Quoting Matthew 5:17, he said, "Do not think that I came to abolish the Law and the Prophets; I did not come to abolish but to fill full or to fulfill." Schneider explained that Jesus was "combating a mindset in which people thought He came to start a different religion."

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Schneider warned that many in the church today fall into the same error by treating the Old Testament as if it has passed away. "Jewish people don't call the Hebrew Bible the Old Testament," he said. "Because if you think about the word 'old,' old generally connotes something that has been discarded."

Nothing Passes Away

Emphasizing the seriousness of Jesus' words, Schneider quoted further from Matthew 5:18: "For truly I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter or stroke shall pass away from the law until all is accomplished." He explained that this proves the Law was not set aside at the cross. "Notice what Jesus said in the very next verse," Schneider said. "Whoever then annuls one of the least of these commandments, and teaches others to do the same shall be called least in the kingdom of God."

In contrast, Schneider highlighted that Jesus called great those who uphold the Hebrew Scriptures. "Whoever keeps and teaches them, He shall be called great in the kingdom of God," he said.

Treasures Old and New

Schneider pointed to Matthew 13:52, where Jesus described scribes who became His disciples as those able to bring out "treasures old and new." He compared it to reading a novel from the final chapters without understanding the beginning. "If you don't understand the foundation of our Scriptures, if you don't understand the first three quarters of it, what we call the Old Testament, you're going to misunderstand the last quarter of it, the New Testament," Schneider said.

Beyond the Letter of the Law

Yeshua also called His followers to a higher standard than the Pharisees. Schneider reminded his audience that Jesus went to the heart of the commandments. "You have heard it said the ancients were told, 'You shall not commit murder,' but I say to you that everyone who is angry with his brother shall be guilty before the court," he quoted. In the same way, Jesus expanded the command against adultery to include lust in the heart.

“Yeshua is saying unless your walk with the spirit goes beyond that of the scribes and the Pharisees, you need to exceed that type of righteousness,” Schneider said.

Walking in Forgiveness

A major part of this righteousness, Schneider stressed, is forgiveness. Quoting Jesus, he reminded listeners that reconciliation must come before worship. “This is so serious that you can’t have a relationship with God, that He can’t accept your offering until our hearts are first cleared with our brothers and sisters,” he said.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Schneider warned that unforgiveness is more dangerous than many realize. “Unforgiveness is so serious. It’s more serious than many of us recognize,” he said, urging believers to release offenses and walk in peace with others.

A Whole Bible Faith

The teaching of Jesus and the testimony of the apostles both affirm the continuing role of the Old Testament. Paul, Schneider noted, was referring to the Hebrew Scriptures when he wrote that “all Scripture is inspired by God.” For Christians today, this means that the fullness of God’s revelation cannot be grasped without both testaments.

To understand the New Covenant fully, one must also honor and study the Hebrew Bible. Believers are called to know God through His entire Word, to see both the treasures old and new, and to walk in the spirit of truth revealed from Genesis to Revelation.

A Prophetic Warning for Hebrew Year 5786

As the biblical year 5786 approaches with the fall feasts, believers are being urged to prepare for a season of intense spiritual warfare. Many will feel pressure to abandon their callings, step away from their ministries or compromise their integrity just as God is preparing His people for a time of reformation and revival.

A Warning to Leaders and Ministers

Rabbi Curt Landry, speaking in a recent message, emphasized that this attack will be aimed at leaders and those in supportive roles. “The enemy is going to do everything he can to try to get you off your position and out of alignment with God before the end of the fall feast,” Landry said. He tied this battle to what he calls the rise of the Amalekite spirit, which seeks to derail destinies through compromise and comfort. “What it’s after is stealing your highest and best through compromise and comfort. People are getting so weary. They’re saying, ‘Listen, I can’t handle this battle anymore. It’s not worth it. I’m not winning.’ The battle is purifying you.”

Order Jonathan Cahn's Newest Book, "The Avatar" on Amazon.com!

The Amalekite Spirit and New 7-Year Season

Landry described this Amalekite spirit as a force working through Jezebelic and Baal structures, designed to divide and seduce leaders with promises of recognition, comfort, or influence. He cautioned that this is a decisive moment for the church: "We are coming out of one season of seven. We're ending and now we're going into a complete latter rain season of seven. And the biblical year 5786—we are moving into a one new man reformation year and the next seven years of reformation."

He warned that many believers are tempted to quit because they feel out of place, forgotten, or unrecognized. "The reason you don't fit is because your mindset is on who you were in the past. And the Lord's trying to transition you into a mindset of who you shall be in the future," Landry explained.

A Call to Stand Firm

Landry called on Christians not to give in to discouragement or division. "Satan is trying to get you out of alignment with your unlocked kingdom destiny. He wants you to get offended, not feeling loved," he said. Instead, Landry urged the body of Christ to stay rooted in unity and faith. "Child of God, hear me. You're needed in your church, in your ministry. Do not quit now. Do not get tricked of the enemy because you're uncomfortable with the promotion that's coming."

Mike Huckabee Reveals the Truth About the US-Israel Alliance and Why It Matters

In the middle of global debates over Israel's role in the world, former Arkansas governor and current U.S. ambassador to Israel Mike Huckabee says the reality is simple: America needs Israel just as much as Israel needs America.

Huckabee shared his perspective during a recent episode of The Watchman Newscast with host Erick Stakelbeck. Speaking from Jerusalem, the two discussed Israel's contributions to the United States, the rise of antisemitism, and why the relationship between the nations is vital both politically and spiritually.

A Two-Way Relationship

Huckabee pushed back against claims that the U.S.-Israel alliance is one-sided. "It's an incredible benefit to the United States," he said. "If you like your cell phone, thank Israel for it. The development of the SIM card is the reason we have cell phones today. Do you like some of the medical procedures that have saved maybe a relative's life? Heart stents, swallowing the little camera that lets the doctor see inside your intestines—developed here."

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

He pointed to other innovations such as car navigation systems, seedless watermelon, and cherry tomatoes. "And then defense systems," he added. "We can't even begin to talk about all the ways in which things that protect Americans every single day, that protect our soldiers in battle medically and militarily, were first field tested and used by the Israeli Defense Force."

Rising Criticism and Propaganda

Despite these tangible benefits, Huckabee noted growing hostility toward Israel, even among some on the American right. "It's disturbing, very frightening to me because a lot of it is based on innuendo and lies," he warned. He criticized the use of rhetorical devices like "everyone knows" to spread conspiracy theories. "The fact is it isn't true. Next thing you know it becomes considered to be a fact. It's not a fact."

He suggested that much of this shift stems from propaganda rather than firsthand knowledge. "Knowing that they haven't been here, they haven't spent any time in Israel tells me it's not based on firsthand eyewitness understanding. It's based on what someone told them. The question is, what propagandist told him that and who's paying them to continue saying it?"

Pre-order Jonathan Cahn's Newest Book, "The Avatar" on Amazon.com!

The Spiritual Roots of Antisemitism

Huckabee argued that antisemitism cannot be explained by politics alone. "Anti-semitism is irrational. It makes no sense," he said. "Why would you hate Jewish people? They're less than 1% of the population. What are they going to do? Take over the world with one less than 1%? No."

Instead, he pointed to a deeper issue: "This is not a geopolitical issue. This is a spiritual issue. If they really are God's people in God's place doing God's purpose, then people who reject God see them as an affront. And so let's hate them, let's destroy them, let's annihilate them."

Standing with Israel

For Huckabee, America's connection to Israel is more than political or practical, it is biblical. "As Christians, our own faith is predicated, built upon Judaism," he explained. "So if there wasn't a Jewish people, if there were not Ten Commandments, if there was not a progression of the light and law of God in the world, there would be no Christianity."

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

That conviction fuels his call for Americans to remain steadfast in supporting Israel. "America and Israel share this fundamental common value system that the individual matters," he said. "They embody it. They represent it. They're the holders of that candle. Let's not blow out the candle."

A Biblical Mandate

At a time when global leaders and media voices increasingly challenge Israel's legitimacy, Huckabee insists that the United States cannot afford to waver in its support. From technology to defense, Israel strengthens America. From a spiritual perspective, Israel preserves the foundation of the Christian faith.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

"People today, most of the world, live like they did in the time of the judges when the Bible says that everyone did what was right in his own eyes," Huckabee said. In contrast, he pointed to Israel as a living testimony of God's covenant promises.

Supporting Israel is not just about politics: it is about standing with God's Word and His people.

Why the World Will Be at Its Worst When Jesus Returns

Conversations about the end times often stir questions about what the Bible truly says. Many wonder about the rapture, the tribulation and the signs that will unfold in the heavens. Scripture paints a vivid picture of these events, and when carefully studied, it offers both a sober warning and a joyful hope for believers looking forward to the coming of the Lord.

The Tribulation and Cosmic Signs

The late Bible teacher Derek Prince, in his series Prophetic Guide to the End Times, urged Christians to take Jesus' words seriously. He pointed to Matthew 24:29, saying, "Immediately after the tribulation of those days, the sun will be darkened the moon will not give its light the stars will fall from heaven and the powers of heavens will be shaken."

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Prince explained that this does not mean the literal stars we see at night but rather the shaking of Satan's kingdom in the heavenly realms. "I envisage the powers of heaven that's Satan's throne kingdom in the heavenlies being shaken to the point where his angels start to be shaken out of it."

The Visible Return of Christ

Prince emphasized that Christ's return will be unmistakable. "Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and with great glory." He added, "To me that is anything but secret. I can't think how anybody could be unaware that something is going on when you've got the Lord shouting the archangel speaking and the trumpet of God sounding."

Understanding the Rapture

On the subject of the rapture, Prince clarified the meaning behind the word. He pointed to the Greek word harpazo, translated as "caught up." He said, "You could easily translate this 'we shall be raptured to meet the Lord in the air.' It would be a perfectly legitimate translation."

Pre-order Jonathan Cahn's Newest Book, "The Avatar" on Amazon.com!

Prince explained that harpazo implies sudden and forceful action. "That's how the rapture will be without warning sudden and forceful. And there will be no time to be getting ready. If you're getting ready you'll be too late you have to be ready."

The Timing of Christ's Coming

Prince was clear about when the Lord will appear. "It says immediately after the tribulation of those days, the Lord is going to come. There is a theory that the church is going to become so powerful politically that it will take over the world set the world neatly in order and offer it back to Jesus when He comes. I have to say this is not in line with what it says. Immediately after the tribulation Jesus will come."

Glory Beyond Comparison

In looking forward, Prince pointed to the hope of Christ's return in glory. Quoting Luke 9:26, he reminded listeners that Jesus will come "in His own glory and in His Father's and of the holy angels." He added, "Isaiah 24 says the sun and moon will be embarrassed because their light will be so dim and ineffective by comparison they'll just have nothing to talk about. And furthermore, that light so brilliant will not hurt your eyes. That's what I'm looking for."

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

The Fig Tree and the Nations

Prince also highlighted Jesus' parable of the fig tree, linking it to the rebirth of Israel and the rise of nations around the world claiming their independence. "In 1948 Israel, the fig tree, put on its leaves. I was there when it happened. They got rid of the British, as other nations have also done, and said, 'We're a people of our own. We have our own history our own culture our own language. We want to rule ourselves.'"

He explained that the "trees putting on their leaves" represent the worldwide rise of nationalism and a clear sign that "summer is near."

A Hope Worth Waiting For

As the world heads deeper into uncertain times, Prince's words serve as both a warning and a comfort. He reminded believers that the increasing trials are not without purpose. "The birth pangs are not going to diminish they're going to increase. The question is, as I said before do you really want the baby?"

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

For those who endure in faith, the promise is worth waiting for. "I love to think of the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory... That's worth waiting for. Can you say amen to that? It's worth enduring for."

Are We Witnessing the Return of Babylon in Our Lifetime?

The conversation surrounding end-times prophecy continues to intensify as new developments in Israel and the Middle East raise questions about the fulfillment of biblical signs. From the Temple Mount to the rebuilding of Babylon and the long-anticipated rapture of the church, many Christians are watching closely.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Pastors James Kaddis and Tom Hughes, hosts of the program Countdown 2 Eternity, recently discussed these prophetic topics in depth. Their dialogue touched on the biblical significance of the Temple Mount, global events tied to Babylon and the proper perspective on the rapture.

1. The Temple

Kaddis and Hughes began with the Temple Mount, directly addressing debates about its historic location. Hughes insisted, "Once you go to the city of David you recognize it's beyond the city of David. Everybody geographically impossible. It's impossible. Plus, they've dug down 4,000 years of history. There ain't no temple that was ever there."

He went on to note that Hadrian, the Roman emperor in 135 A.D., knew precisely where the temple had stood: "Historians tell you he built a shrine to who? Zeus, Jupiter, Satan. That's what he did."

Looking to the future, Hughes described the prophetic expectation of two temples: the Antichrist's temple, tied to 2 Thessalonians 2, Revelation 11 and Daniel 9, and the Messianic temple described in Ezekiel 40 and onward. "The one person in the universe that wants a temple built there more than anybody else is Satan," he said. "Through Antichrist, he's attempting to usurp the authority of Jesus so that his man will stand in the temple and proclaim to be God."

Pre-order James Lasher's Newest Book, "The Revelation of Jesus" on Amazon.com!

2. Babylon

The discussion turned from Jerusalem to Iraq, where large-scale infrastructure projects are underway. Hughes noted that billions of dollars are being poured into development in the region historically associated with Babylon. "It's all been done behind the curtain. I find it absolutely fascinating. And...in all of the articles you read about it, they all say the same thing. They call it Babylon," he said.

This observation was tied to prophetic anticipation that end-times events will center not only on Jerusalem but also on a resurgent Babylon. The pastors suggested that what is unfolding economically and politically in the region aligns with biblical warnings about the final global system described in Revelation.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

3. The Rapture

Finally, Kaddis and Hughes addressed growing speculation about the rapture. They warned against the habit of predicting specific dates, particularly around Jewish feast days like Rosh Hashanah. Hughes said, "If you hear anybody telling you the Lord is going to come on this date, don't ever listen to them again. They're not credible. They're not credible people."

Kaddis added, "I would rather be wrong and excited about the Lord coming than not excited." But both agreed that setting dates leads to discouragement and damages credibility when those dates pass uneventfully.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

As prophetic events accelerate, Kaddis and Hughes emphasized the need for discernment. While the temple preparations, Babylon's rebuilding and the expectation of Christ's return all carry biblically prophetic weight, believers are urged to stay rooted in Scripture and cautious of sensational claims. Above all, Christians are called to watch, pray and avoid the trap of repeatedly predicting a day and hour that Jesus Himself said no one knows.

Tom Horn's Wormwood Prophecy Goes Viral as Jewish Feast Days Near

The Bible is clear that no one knows the exact day or hour of Christ's return (Matt. 24:36). Yet, Scripture also tells us to be watchful and discern "the signs of the times." A resurfaced interview from 2020 with the late author Tom Horn on the Jim Bakker Show is now going viral, stirring conversation about whether the Jewish feast days, the year 2025 and the asteroid Apophis could all be prophetically linked.

Horn lays out a theory—not a declaration—that intertwines biblical prophecy, astronomy and ancient Jewish tradition. He is careful to frame this as a scenario worth watching, not as a definitive timeline.

Apophis and Wormwood

Horn connects the asteroid Apophis, set for a close Earth flyby in 2029, with the “Wormwood” prophecy of Revelation 8. He explained, “If Apophis is the fulfillment of the Wormwood prophecy Revelation chapter eight, that would happen in the middle of the great tribulation period.”

If that were the case, he said, “you would count backward 3.5 years to arrive at the beginning of what is called the seven year great tribulation period.”

Order Tom Horn's Book, "The Wormwood Prophecy" on Amazon.com!

The Feasts and 2025

During the interview, Horn recounted that researcher Derek Gilbert pulled up a Hebrew calendar as they discussed the possibility. “He literally turned pale because 3.5 years earlier before the impact of Apophis to the day is the middle of the feast of tabernacles,” Horn recalled.

That feast in 2025 falls on a particularly symbolic day. “It not only falls into the middle of the feast of tabernacles but literally on the seventh day of the feast of tabernacles in 2025,” Horn said. “The seventh day of the feast of tabernacles is when the ancient Hebrews ... sacrificed seven bulls in commemoration of God delivering them from all of the gods of the nations but in particular delivering them from the gods of Egypt and in particular delivering them from Apophis the ancient Egyptian god of chaos.”

Trumpets and Pentecost

Horn also pointed to other feasts in that same cycle. Just 10 days before Tabernacles is the Feast of Trumpets, which Paul referenced in 1 Thessalonians: “At the last trump ... the dead in Christ shall rise.” Horn said, “During the feast of trumpets the shofar has sounded 100 times. Paul says at the last trump the dead in Christ shall rise then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together.”

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Even earlier, 120 days before Tabernacles in 2025, is Pentecost, which Horn connected to the symbolic number of human completion. “In biblical numerology the number 120 is the number of the end of mankind,” he noted, citing Genesis 6:3. “Of course Moses was also a parody ... of that in that he died at 120 years of age.”

The Essene Prophecies

Beyond the feasts, Horn also tied in the writings of the Essenes of Qumran, the Jewish sect known from the Dead Sea Scrolls. He explained that their ancient prophecies accurately anticipated the first coming of the Messiah, including that He would die in 32 A.D., not just for Jews but also for Gentiles.

“They also prophesied this: that mankind ... will enter its final age guess when—in the year 2025,” Horn said.

A Viral Theory, Not a Timeline

Horn summarized his case by stressing that “there are a massive amount of indicators that 2025 is a pivotal year that the world needs to be paying attention to.” But he did not present this as an infallible declaration, rather as a theory piecing together ancient prophecy, biblical feasts and astronomical events.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

As videos of the interview spread online in 2025, it is easy to see why many are intrigued by how these dates appear to align. Yet Scripture warns against setting dates, even as it encourages believers to remain watchful.

Instead of giving in to fear or anxiety, Christians are called to turn to the Word of God in prayer and stay faithful to the mission Christ gave: to “go and make disciples of all nations” (Matt. 28:19).

Temple Institute Reveals Why the Red Heifer Isn't Blocking the Third Temple

For many watching events in Israel unfold, there is confusion over the red heifer, the building of the Third Temple and what role these elements play in biblical prophecy. The Bible describes the red heifer as part of purification rites in Numbers 19, while Jewish tradition holds that its ashes are necessary for restoring full ritual purity in Temple service. Many Christians are watching closely, seeking to understand what is happening from a biblical perspective.

The Temple Institute, which has been preparing vessels, garments and other requirements for the rebuilding of the Temple, addressed growing questions about whether the ashes of the red heifer are required before construction or offerings can begin.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

“Many people have been asking questions concerning the necessity of acquiring the ashes of the red heifer as a prerequisite for the building of the Holy Temple, or for the performing of offerings on the Temple Mount,” the Temple Institute wrote.

According to their statement, the absence of red heifer ashes is not an obstacle to public offerings or even Temple construction. “Time oriented offerings can be made even when Israel is in a state of impurity (tamei met—the impurity of contact with a corpse that only the ashes of the red heifer can purify),” the Institute explained. These include the daily Tamid offering, festival offerings, and the Passover sacrifice, which “take precedence over the issue of tum’at met.”

Personal sacrifices, however, remain restricted until purification is possible. “Personal offerings (sin offerings, thanksgiving offerings, etc.) cannot be made in a state of impurity, as they are not time bound,” the post stated.

The Temple Institute further noted that the lack of ashes does not prevent construction. “Construction of the Temple can also take place even in the absence of the ashes of the red heifer, when there is no other option. This actually took place during the building of the second Temple,” the statement said. Even repairs can be performed by artisans who are ritually impure if no pure workers are available.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

At the same time, they emphasized the importance of eventually obtaining the ashes. “While the ashes of the red heifer are, indeed, a necessary prerequisite for a fully functioning Temple service, and while the efforts to achieve the ashes are moving steadily forward, a lack of the ashes does not present an impediment to the building of the Holy Temple or the renewal of the public, time oriented offerings.”

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

As excitement and speculation continue to build, Christians are reminded to approach these developments with wisdom. The Bible warns that deception will be a hallmark of the last days. Now more than ever, believers are called to prayer, discernment and a firm rooting in the Word of God so “the deception of the devil does not lead us astray.”

Vatican Includes LGBTQ Pilgrimage and Rainbow Crucifix in 2025 Jubilee Celebrations

The Vatican is preparing to host a series of events for the LGBTQ community in Rome next week, including a Mass, prayer vigils and a procession to St. Peter's Basilica. But the nature of these events raises a troubling question: is Pope Leo allowing apostasy to enter the Vatican for the whole world to see?

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

On Sept. 5, the international meeting "Listening to the Experiences of LGBTQ Catholics" will take place inside the Vatican, organized by Outreach, a U.S. organization founded by Jesuit Father James Martin. According to the announcement, "LGBTQ Catholics from various countries will share their experiences."

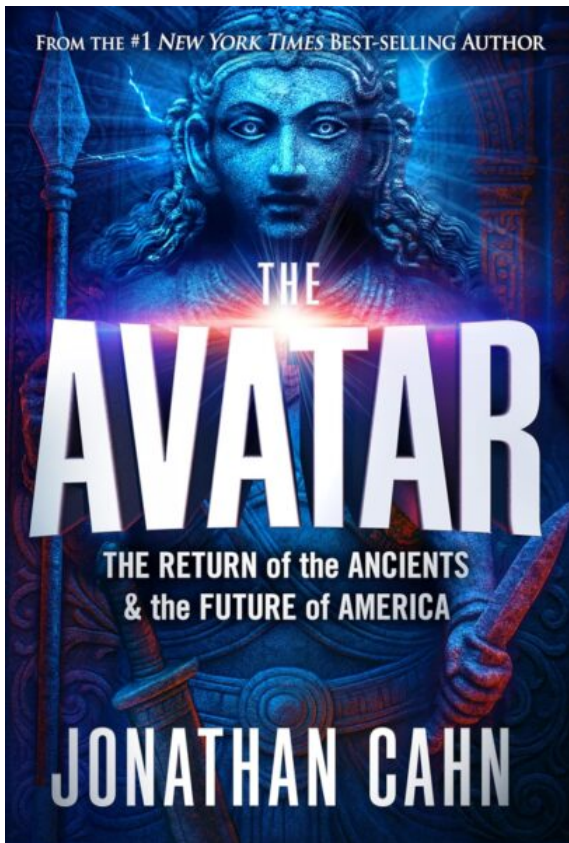

A Rainbow Crucifix in the Church

Later that evening, a prayer vigil will be held in Rome's Church of the Gesù with LGBTQ Christians, their parents, and other participants. The Vatican noted that "during the vigil, a rainbow cross will be presented, which was brought to Rome by a group of LGBTQ pilgrims and their parents."

The use of a rainbow crucifix, a clear distortion of the sacred image of Christ's sacrifice, is nothing less than heresy. To fuse the cross of Jesus with the symbol of pride that affirms lifestyles the Bible calls sinful (Lev. 18:22; Rom. 1:26–27) is to present before the world a false gospel.

Affirmation or Apostasy?

On Sept. 6, Bishop Francesco Savino, Vice President of the Italian Episcopal Conference, will preside over a Mass at the same church, followed by a Jubilee Pilgrimage to the Holy Door at St. Peter's Basilica with more than 1,000 participants. Finally, pilgrims will join the Pope for the Angelus prayer in St. Peter's Square.

Pre-order Jonathan Cahn's Newest Book, "The Avatar" on Amazon.com!

The previous pope, Francis, made several statements indicating openness to the LGBTQ community. Asked whether there was room in the Church for transgender, non-binary or LGBT people, he responded: "Every person is a child of God, everyone. God rejects no one—and clergy in the Catholic Church should not do so either." He added, "I have no right to expel anyone from the Church. The Church must not close its doors to anyone."

Loving those who are trapped in sin is one thing. Jesus Himself showed compassion to sinners, but He always called them to “go and sin no more” (John 8:11). What we are witnessing in Rome looks less like an invitation to repentance and more like an affirmation of lifestyles that God has declared abominable.

A Pattern in Mainline Denominations

What is taking place in the Vatican is not happening in isolation. Many mainline Protestant denominations, such as the United Methodist Church, embraced this same road years ago, affirming rather than lovingly correcting sin. Today, those denominations have largely abandoned biblical authority, replacing the gospel with cultural accommodation. This is the fruit of apostasy, the great falling away Scripture foretells (2 Thess. 2:3).

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Should Pope Leo choose to affirm these lifestyles, he risks leading millions into deception. The acceptance of a rainbow cross at the heart of the Vatican illustrates how far the visible church can drift when it places cultural approval above biblical truth.

The End-Times Falling Away

The apostle Paul warned that in the last days people would not endure sound doctrine, but would gather teachers to affirm their desires (2 Tim. 4:3). The events planned at the Vatican bear striking resemblance to this falling away, pointing to a church that prefers applause from the world over obedience to God.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

This moment is not just about the Catholic Church, it is a warning to the global body of Christ. What happens in Rome will reverberate throughout the world, shaping how many perceive Christianity itself.

A Call to Prayer

Christians must pray fervently in this hour. Pray for those who have yielded to their fleshly desires, that they would have a radical encounter with the Holy Spirit, repent of their sin and live a life pleasing to the Lord. Pray for courage among church leaders to stand firm on Scripture, even when it is unpopular. And pray that the true gospel of Jesus Christ, one of love, forgiveness and transformation, will shine through the darkness of compromise and confusion.

Prophecy Watch: Shofar Sounded on Jerusalem's Temple Mount

Amazing developments are taking place on the Temple Mount in Jerusalem, events that have not been seen in nearly 2,000 years and are now happening in rapid succession.

The Temple Institute recently announced that the shofar has been sounded on the Temple Mount. The group described the moment as “the sound of Israel returning to Hashem and the sound of the coming redemption,” citing Isaiah 27:13, which foretells of a great shofar blast that will gather the exiles back to Jerusalem.

Their emphatic declaration—"Do not despair. It is happening"—has captured attention across Israel and around the world. Reports and video footage show a growing hunger among Jewish people to worship on the Temple Mount, fueling renewed discussions about the possibility of a rebuilt temple.

The Prophetic Significance

For Christians, these events carry profound prophetic meaning. While the Jewish people do not recognize Jesus as the Messiah and continue to follow the old covenant, Scripture makes it clear that one day their eyes will be opened. Revelation speaks of a future temple that will be desecrated by the Antichrist, an event known as the abomination of desolation.

Though believers understand the body as the temple of the Holy Spirit, the Jewish people do not accept this truth. Yet, prophecy points to a rebuilt temple in Jerusalem that will play a central role in end-times events. Many believe God may use that time of tribulation to open the eyes of His people so they will see that Jesus is truly the Messiah.

Signs Aligning with Scripture

The world stage is aligning with biblical prophecy at an unprecedented pace. Israel is becoming a "heavy stone" to the nations, with global hostility toward the Jewish state increasing. Wars and rumors of wars rage across the globe. Freedoms are being stripped away, replaced by systems of government control that echo Revelation's warnings about a one-world system regulating commerce.

Other signs Jesus warned of—lawlessness, earthquakes, pestilence, famine and widespread deception—are evident today. The West has largely abandoned its Christian foundation, while Israel remains the central focus of end-times prophecy.

The Temple Mount, the epicenter of biblical prophecy, has now witnessed both the blowing of silver trumpets in 2024 and the shofar being sounded twice in recent memory. The first took place in secret during Rosh Hashanah 2024 before police intervened. The second, more recent instance, happened openly in daylight without interference.

Israeli leaders such as Itamar Ben-Gvir are voicing strong support for Jewish prayer rights on the Temple Mount. Thousands ascended the mount during Tisha B'Av, while tens of thousands more gathered at the Western Wall to mourn the destruction of the first and second temples. These moments reveal a growing hunger for a renewed temple—a development that would send shockwaves across the globe.

Prophecy in Motion

Skeptics often dismiss Revelation as allegory, but modern history continues to echo biblical prophecy. From Israel's miraculous rebirth in 1948 to the return of the red heifer for ritual purification, the trajectory is showing that momentum is building toward the restoration of the temple.

Believers are urged to view these developments through the lens of Scripture, recognizing both the hand of God and the schemes of the enemy. The call is urgent: Do not be deceived about the times in which we live.

A Call to Readiness

Now is the time for Christians to remain steadfast. Believers are called to renew themselves in the Word of God, remain in prayer and fasting, put on the full armor of God and engage in spiritual warfare. Above all, they must boldly share the truth of Jesus Christ.
