

'I've Been to the Mountaintop': Martin Luther King Jr. Speaks Prophetically in Final Address

In the final speech delivered by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the civil rights advocate spoke out on April 3, 1968, against what he called "totalitarian" denial of First Amendment rights. He also spoke prophetically in a way that seems to refer to his assassination, which took place the next day, as well as to America's future.

He gave the speech at the Church of God in Christ headquarters, the Mason Temple in Memphis, Tennessee.

"I don't know what will happen now," King tells the assembled crowd in this clip. "But it really doesn't matter with me now—because I've been to the mountaintop.

"Like anybody, I would like to live a long life," he says. "Longevity has its place. But I'm not concerned about that now. I just want to do God's will, and He's allowed me to go up to the mountain, and I've looked over and I've seen the promised land. I may not get there with you, but I want you to know tonight that we as a people will get to the promised land."

For more of King's inspiring words, watch the video clip from "I've Been to the Mountaintop" above or at this link. {eo}

✖ For more information on how you can fight back against cancel culture, make sure to get a copy of what Charisma founder and CEO Stephen Strang says is his most important book yet. God and Cancel Culture, released Sept. 7, is now available wherever fine books are sold. Order it at .

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.

Pastor Jack Hibbs Asks: Is Your Life Prophetic?

Is your life prophetic? Pastor Jack Hibbs both asks and answers this question in a recent message.

“There’s a future that lies ahead,” he says. “In fact, everything that’s gone on in your life thus far has only been preparatory for your future.

“And if you’re an atheist, you’re preparing for your future. Your life is prophetic. ... Your life is prophetic if you’re a believer. That is true. And we’re going to hear reasons why.”

He quotes from G.K. Chesterton, validating the need for God’s redemptive message found throughout Scripture: “Whatever else is or is not true, this one thing is certain: Man is not what he was meant to be.”

Does this mean we are to focus on pleasure, grabbing all the gusto we can? Absorb God’s truth as you watch Hibbs’ powerful message above or at this link. {eo}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.

How God Used This Pastor's Long-Lost Bible to Transform Its Finder's Life

An Oklahoma pastor who lost his Bible 15 years ago was overjoyed to find out that it had been used to bring someone into a relationship with Christ.

Pastor Paul Daugherty with the Tulsa-based megachurch Victory posted the story on Facebook titled "Crazy Story."

"Meet Clayton—he found this old Bible at a shelter 10 years ago and started reading it, and saw the name P. DAUGHERTY on the front cover not knowing who that was but seeing all kind(s) of little journal notes, and underlines and scribble thoughts next to scripture verses from the Old Testament to the New Testament," he wrote.