Ohio State Football Players Spark Revival: 'Give Him the Glory'

The college football season got underway last weekend, and players at The Ohio State University have shown that God is moving on campus in an incredible way.

These young warriors of God put together a massive faith event on Sunday, Aug. 25, and received thousands of those hungry for the presence of God. Multiple local churches from the Columbus area were involved in getting the event off the ground and the Holy Spirit showed up in a powerful way.

As reported by The Lantern, "Senior running back TreVeyon Henderson, senior defensive end J.T. Tuimoloau, graduate wide receiver Emeka Egbuka, former Buckeyes wide receiver Kamryn Babb and more Ohio State football players helped lead the ceremony."

Isaiah Saldivar: Why Not All Christians Will Be in Heaven

"Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven," (Matt. 7:21).

While it's not talked about often, the reality is that many people who consider themselves Christians will not be in heaven, including some who have done miracles, signs and wonders.

In one of his latest videos, Isaiah Saldivar broke down Matthew 7, which explains what it truly means to follow God and why some people will not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

Jonathan Cahn's Prophetic Mystery: Trump and the Election

Does the Bible show us the path America should turn to during this election season?

In his latest prophetic message, Jonathan Cahn unveiled a prophetic mystery of how the Clintons, Barack Obama and Donald Trump all match the descriptions and years of public service of different biblical characters.

In Cahn's book, "The Paradigm," he noted how Bill Clinton fit into the role of King Ahab, as his wife, Hillary, fits the description of Ahab's wife, Jezebel.

6 Truths I Will Stand For, Regardless of Censorship

The word "democracy" is thrown around a lot these days, but many left-leaning Americans have changed its original definition. Democracy usually refers to a society where people have freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and the freedom to lawfully assemble—as well as the right to vote.

But in today's woke, upside-down world, democracy has evolved to mean a society where liberals are allowed to force their views on everyone else through censorship. More and more, we are seeing this one-sided version of "democracy":

John Ramirez Unveils Satan's Greatest Form of Deception

Evangelist John Ramirez has come back to social media after taking a few months off of the web. While Ramirez has never been a huge fan of sabbaticals in the past, he says there are times where God hits the stop button in order to make us grow stronger.

"Sometimes God would just hit not only the reset button, but he hits the stop button," Ramirez says. "It's like the eagle. I believe the eagle goes through a period of time of flying and hunting...but then it goes through a transformation."

Ramirez says that sometimes it is critical for believers to go through a time of unplugging and re-connecting with the Lord because we cannot continue life the same way we used to by using yesterday's tools to fight against the enemy's attacks.

To pre-order John Ramirez's new book, "Exposing the Devil's Playbook," visit .

"The deeper the spiritual warfare, the deeper you've got to go with God," says Ramirez. "You can't fight [tomorrow's] spiritual warfare with yesterday's arsenal, yesterday's thinking, yesterday's anointing, strategies of heaven of yesterday. Everything has to be fresh."

A couple of the pressing moments that Ramirez has experienced in the last few months include two surgeries on his eyesight, the return of his mother's cancer after celebrating her healing and the immense attacks against his daughter's mind. However, Ramirez points out that while he has been crushed on all sides, he does not question God. Instead, he keeps praising Him because he knows that Satan wants nothing more than for believers to backslide and doubt God.

God is still the one who sits on the throne, and He is the one who has thoughts and ways much higher than our own.

"He wants you to doubt God. He wants you to put God on trial," he continues.

Ramirez says that it is God's promises found in His Word that we can use as weapons of warfare against the enemy. It is only by being rooted and renewed by the Word of God each day that we can truly fight against the schemes of the enemy. Helping other believers stay focused on the Word to effectively fight against the enemy's tactics is one of the reasons that Ramirez wrote his new book, "Exposing the Devil's Playbook."

"'Exposing the Devil's Playbook' is going to teach you what is spiritual warfare," Ramirez says. "Spiritual warfare is prayer."

Ramirez says the enemy will do everything in his power to keep you from praying because it is through prayer that we draw close to the Lord. It is through the power of prayer that Satan is defeated and Christ is glorified.

Hundreds of Police, SWAT Teams Raid 'Kingdom of Jesus Christ' Group

Hundreds of police officers backed by riot squads raided a vast religious compound in a southern Philippine city Saturday in search of a local preacher accused of sexual abuse and human trafficking, police officials said.

A supporter of the group, called Kingdom of Jesus Christ, reportedly died due to a heart attack during the massive police raid that started at dawn in the group's compound in Davao city, livestreamed online by a local TV network owned by the group, police said, adding that the death was not related to the police operations.

Officers brought equipment that could detect people behind cement walls. But by mid-afternoon, they found no sign of Apollo Quiboloy in the compound – some 30 hectares (75 acres) that includes a cathedral, a school, a living area, a hangar and a taxiway leading to Davao International Airport.

Quiboloy and his lawyer have denied the criminal allegations against him and his religious group, saying these were fabricated by critics and former members, who were removed from the religious group after committing irregularities.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Quiboloy's followers, many filming the police raid with their cellphones, yelled at the police, questioning the legality of the raid and pronouncing the innocence of Quiboloy, who was a close supporter and spiritual adviser of former President Rodrigo Duterte.

Duterte had criticized previous attempts by large numbers of police to arrest Quiboloy as overkill.

Quiboloy claims to be the appointed son of God. In 2019, he claimed he stopped a major earthquake from hitting the southern Philippines.

Police Brig. Gen. Nicolas Torre III, who led the raid, said officers wanted to serve warrants for the arrest of Quiboloy for various criminal cases, including child abuse and human trafficking. He justified the large deployment, saying there were more than 40 buildings and structures to be searched in the religious compound, where large numbers of Quiboloy's followers heckled and opposed the raid noisily.

"We won't leave here until we get him," Torre told reporters as sirens blared in the background. "We have no-bail warrants for Quiboloy and four others for very grave crimes, including human trafficking, child abuse and other cases."

In 2021, United States federal prosecutors announced the indictment of Quiboloy for allegedly having sex with women and underage girls who faced threats of abuse and "eternal damnation" unless they catered to the self-proclaimed "son of God."

Quiboloy and two of his top administrators were among nine people named in a superseding indictment returned by a federal grand jury and unsealed in November 2021.

The superseding indictment contained a raft of charges, including conspiracy, sex trafficking of children, sex trafficking by force, fraud and coercion, marriage fraud, money laundering, cash smuggling and visa fraud.

Quiboloy's group said then that he was ready to face the charges in court, but he went into hiding after a Philippine court ordered his arrest and several others for child and sexual abuse. The Philippine Senate has separately ordered Quiboloy's arrest for refusing to appear in committee hearings that was looking into criminal allegations against him.

President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. has urged Quiboloy to surrender and assured him of fair treatment by authorities.

Series Championship?

The Lake Mary team won the Little League World Series Sunday, outlasting the team from Taiwan 2-1 in extra innings. The team from the northern Orlando suburb earned its first LLWS championship and the first for the state of Florida. It is the sixth such straight title for a U.S. team.

“We came here to do something. We came here to do a job, and today we accomplished that job,” Florida manager Jonathan Anderson said to . “We took a loss to Texas, we battled all the way back and here we are to talk about how we won this whole thing.”

During the changeover in the eighth inning, Anderson could be overheard on the ABC Sports live broadcast in his pep talk to his team, saying, “A man prayed over me ... he said, ‘It’s already been written, we’re already the champs, the Lord already put it in His book,’ we’re just going to finish the story, right here, right now.”

In the Lake Mary dugout, his team calm, yet determined, Anderson continued, “Stay calm, stay composed, stay within yourself. But understand, it’s already been written, it’s already ours, we just have to finish it here.”

Did a Prophetic Word Predict Little League World Series Championship?

“A man prayed over me...he said, ‘It’s already been written, we’re already the champs...”

Did 19th-Century Novels Foretell America’s Future? The Enigma of Barron Trump

In the annals of literary history, few works have sparked as much curiosity and speculation of late as The Baron Trump Collection novels.

Written in the late 1800s by the largely unknown lawyer and author Ingersoll Lockwood, these obscure novels have recently captured the public imagination due to their eerie parallels with modern events and the family of former President Donald J. Trump. YouTube and TikTok videos about these novels, and Donald Trump’s son Barron Trump, have garnered millions of views.

The series of books consists of three novels: “Travels and Adventures of Little Baron Trump and His Wonderful Dog Bulger,” “Baron Trump’s Marvelous Underground Journey” and “1900: or, The Last President.”

Is Time Travel Real? Explore the Connection Between Tesla, Prophecy and Donald Trump

The books were released amid the growing popularity of "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" in 1865 by Lewis Carroll, a mathematics don at the University of Oxford.

In Lockwood's novels, the protagonist is a young boy from an aristocratic family who lives in "Castle Trump." He embarks on a series of fantastical adventures, guided by a mysterious figure named "Don Fum," the "great master of all masters."

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

In a striking coincidence, Donald Trump's youngest son is named Barron, a fact that has not gone unnoticed by those intrigued by the novels' predictions. The image of the boy on the cover of The Baron Trump Collection even resembles Barron.

Lockwood's works, long forgotten by literary scholars and the general public alike, gained newfound attention with Donald Trump's rise to the presidency. The books describe a character named "Don" who guides young Baron Trump through a world filled with extraordinary and sometimes perilous adventures. The uncanny resemblance between the names and circumstances has led many to wonder if these novels were more than just the flights of fancy of a 19th-century author.

But the connections do not stop at mere names. In "1900: or, The Last President," Lockwood envisions a world where New York City is in turmoil following the election of an outsider candidate who promises to reform the system. The chaos that ensues bears a striking resemblance to the political upheaval and societal division witnessed during and after Donald Trump's tenure in office. The novel's protagonist lives in a hotel on Fifth Avenue, the location of Trump Tower today.

These eerie parallels have led to a flurry of theories, discussions and articles in media outlets such as Newsweek, Politico and the Daily Mail.

In fact, the author of the recent Daily Mail article, titled "Exclusive: The growing cult convinced Donald Trump's son Barron is a time traveller destined to be ... America's Caesar," noted:

Many of the Make America Great Again foot soldiers who constitute Trump's political base have been fixated with Barron for some time. The slogan 'Barron Trump for President 2044' is so well-established you can buy badges inscribed with it on eBay.

But this week, the tone changed and social media—especially TikTok—erupted in Barron-mania. Comparisons were made with Alexander the Great and Augustus Caesar. One popular Barron meme was a photo of a statue of Augustus, the first Roman emperor, with his face replaced by Barron's. Another compared his facial profile with that of a statue of Alexander and showed them to look almost identical. Still others compared him favourably to his father, maximising the continuity between the two.

Are the novels by Lockwood examples of prophetic insight, mere coincidences or something else entirely? This question is a theme in my new book "The Trump Code: Exploring Time Travel, Nikola Tesla, the Trump Lineage, and America's Future," where I explore the various prophecies regarding Donald Trump, how he fits into unfolding biblical prophecies, and even the possibility of time travel, influenced by the groundbreaking work of Nikola Tesla and his theories on time manipulation and "forbidden science."

Interestingly, a recent Freedom of Information Act request from The Sun, Britain's largest newspaper, unearthed documents from the Pentagon's secretive UFO program, the Advanced

Aerospace Threat Identification Program, revealing that time travel may be possible. One report explores how to use antigravity technologies, noting the “effects can be implemented by manipulating spacetime.” In looking at different ways of “controlling gravity,” the report states, “It might be possible to produce exotic phenomena such as faster-than-light travel ... and time machines.”

Tesla, a prolific inventor whose contributions to modern technology are immeasurable, is another intriguing figure connected to Donald Trump. Upon Tesla’s death in 1943, his research, which included papers on time travel, was confiscated by the U.S. government. Intriguingly, John G. Trump, Donald Trump’s uncle, was a renowned Massachusetts Institute of Technology physicist who reviewed Tesla’s papers. Could there be a deeper, hidden link between Tesla’s theories and the Trump family’s ascent to power? That’s a question many have explored in YouTube and TikTok videos.

Drawing from biblical prophecies, historical events and modern-day political analysis, “The Trump Code” weaves these threads into a compelling narrative that challenges readers to reconsider their understanding of history and destiny. The Baron Trump novels serve as a fascinating entry point into this exploration, prompting us to question the nature of coincidence and the possibility of deeper, unseen forces at play.

As we stand on the brink of another pivotal presidential election, the enigmas surrounding Baron Trump, Nikola Tesla and the Trump lineage invite us to look beyond the surface of current events. “The Trump Code” offers a unique perspective, encouraging readers to discern the deeper truths hidden within the pages of history, literature and prophecy.

In these uncertain times, it is essential to remain open to the extraordinary and the unexplained. Join me on this journey through “The Trump Code” and discover how the past, present and future intertwine in ways we are only beginning to understand.

Zuckerberg Has ‘Regrets’ About Meta’s Tie to the Biden-Harris Campaign

Mark Zuckerberg admitted that Meta complied with pressure from the Biden-Harris campaign to place censorship on Americans’ free speech.

In a letter to the U.S. House of Representatives, Zuckerberg wrote:

“I appreciate the Committee’s interest in content moderation on online platforms. As you are aware, Meta has produced thousands of documents as part of your investigation and made a dozen employees available for transcribed interviews. Further to our cooperation with your investigation, I welcome the opportunity to share what I’ve taken away from this process.”

“There’s a lot of talk right now around how the U.S. government interacts with companies like Meta, and I want to be clear about our position. Our platforms are for everyone—we’re about promoting speech and helping people connect in a safe and secure way. As part of this, we regularly hear from the governments around the world and others with various concerns around public discourse and public safety.”

The letter, addressed to Rep. Jim Jordan (R-OH), admits that the social media outlets were pressured by the Biden-Harris campaign to censor information posted online about COVID-19 and the New York Post story which broke about the Biden family's connection to Burisma Holdings Limited.

"In 2021, senior officials from the Biden Administration, including the White House, repeatedly pressured our teams for months to censor certain COVID-19 content, including humor and satire, and expressed a lot of frustration with our teams when we didn't agree," the letter continued.

Zuckerberg admits that Meta had the choice at the end of the day to comply with the demands or not, and Meta chose to follow through with the pressure.

"Ultimately, it was our decision whether or not to take content down, and we own our decisions, including COVID-19-related changes we made to our enforcement in the wake of this pressure. I believe the government pressure was wrong, and I regret that we were not more outspoken about it."

Zuckerberg further says that if given the opportunity today, Meta likely would not make the same decisions they did in 2021.

"In a separate situation, the FBI warned us about a potential Russian disinformation operation about the Biden family and Burisma in the lead up to the 2020 election," Zuckerberg writes.

"It's since been made clear that the reporting was not Russian disinformation, and in retrospect, we shouldn't have demoted the story. We've changed our policies and processes to make sure this doesn't happen again—for instance, we no longer temporarily demote things in the U.S. while waiting for fact-checkers.”

Zuckerberg concludes the letter to Jordan by mentioning that his own political contributions in the last election were meant to be non-partisan. However, he admits that some “believe this work benefited one party over the other.” As a response, Zuckerberg will not be making a “similar contribution this cycle.”

Isaiah Saldivar: Why Not All Christians Will be in Heaven

“Not everyone who says to Me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven,” (Matt. 7:21).

While it's not talked about often, the reality is that many people who consider themselves Christians will not be in heaven, including some who have done miracles, signs and

wonders.

In one of his latest videos, Isaiah Saldivar broke down Matthew 7, which explains what it truly means to follow God and why some people will not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

To pre-order Isaiah Saldivar's new book, "How to Cast Out Demons," visit .

"This is probably one of the strongest, boldest chapters in the Gospels," Saldivar says.

Matthew 7 starts off by explaining that we will be judged as we have judged others. It also tells us that we cannot be blind to the sins that we have in our life before confronting others about the sins going on in their lives.

"Jesus is saying make sure that when [you] judge other people or other believers that you're not doing what they're doing and then trying to judge them," Saldivar points out.

Christians are also called to make sure that they are not spending all of their time trying to reach a person who does not want to be reached. Christians are supposed to continue pressing in to prayer, seeking God and He will open the door to those who knock.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

"Often times we pray and then give up before we see the results. We ask one time, we knock one time, we doorbell ditch God," Saldivar says.

However, we are called to be fervent in prayer and to continue pressing in to God because He promises His children good gifts. As the Scripture says, "What man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a snake? If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!" (Matt. 7:9-11).

Not only are true Christians called to continue seeking their heavenly Father at all times, but they are meant to follow the Golden Rule of doing unto others how they themselves would like to be treated. We are supposed to bear fruit that could only come from a true relationship with Jesus Christ. However, this means we must choose the narrow road. The path of truly following Christ is difficult, and it means dying to self and our desires. It also means our relationship with Jesus must exceed everything else in life, including doing works in His name.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

This is where we get the warning about those who will do many things in the name of Jesus, however, they never had a relationship with Him.

"Many will say to Me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonderful works in Your name?' But then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you. Depart from Me, you who practice evil,'" (Matt. 7:22-23).

Doing things in the name of Jesus will never triumph actually knowing Jesus. Without truly knowing and embracing a relationship with Him, we are lost. We cannot say that we love God if we don't know Him.

Street Preachers 'Slice Through the Lies' at DNC Protests

While speeches and applause took place inside Chicago's United Center during the Democratic National Convention last week, chaos often erupted outside. In the midst of it all, a group of Chicago street ministers boldly shared the gospel just outside the security perimeter.

"We went on a day where there were feminists, communists," said Juan-Elias Riesco who leads "Chicago for Jesus," a multi-denominational team supported by the city's Metro Praise International Church.

Riesco added, "When we were communicating with the Communist Revolutionaries of America, we had a great 10-15 minute conversation. We talked about Jesus, and we explained to them that the Bible is way more sufficient than any communist manifesto."

He continued, "I had the privilege of ministering the gospel to a trans person. I looked at her and said, 'Did you know that you were fearfully and wonderfully made in the image of God? That God did not design you to be trans but made you perfectly as you are.'”

Their encounters were often impactful—and occasionally shocking.

“So we know things can take a turn for the worst at any time,” Riesco said. “But brother, we believe God has called us to go to these places.”
