Nurse Kemp McAvoy thinks his new patient could be his ticket to the big life. The famous movie star is in a coma, and Kemp plans to adjust her medication each night and pretend to be an angel with messages. He convinces the star's agent and a publisher to go along with his scheme and compile the messages into a "spiritual best-seller." But when Kemp's girlfriend's daughter says she is seeing angels, everyone thinks something is wrong. Could other-worldly beings actually be at work?
