

Mike Signorelli: Mission 11:59—While There's Still Time

What's the worst thing that can happen to a Christian?

What if it's not persecution?

What if the bigger tragedy is... passivity? Squandered opportunity? Regret?

Arrested for silent prayer in England. Thousands martyred in Nigeria. More than 2,000 house churches demolished in China.

These are not dusty memories of horrors from bygone centuries. Persecution happens today.

Now!

The spiritual war is escalating, but the church still has a chance to fight back. While there's still time. But we don't have forever.

Mike Signorelli's journey proves it. A kid from nowhere. A truckload of faith. Car breaks down in Times Square, he turns it into revival epicenter. His obedience launches a movement that's baptized thousands, trained global leaders, topped music charts and brought Jesus to Hollywood's turf with The Domino Revival.

All with no outside backing. Just faith.

But now the world stands on the edge of eternity.

More witches than Presbyterians. A rise in Bible sales—but a fall in biblical worldview. Entire generations are slipping away. Is midnight more than a metaphor? Will it become spiritual reality?

What if God is gifting His creation one last chance to return to Him, and save this generation?

It's time for the shoeless army to strap up and join the battle.
