

21st-Century Esther Boldly Exposes the Spirit of Apathy Sweeping the Nation

Pastor's daughter and orator Karis Peters boldly called out the United States for the spirit of apathy running rampant, including among Christians, over abortion.

"We are right now burdened with an issue just as big if not bigger" than slavery, Peters says in a recent speech. "We are right now murdering over 3,000 children a day in America, clinically and legally."

But for Peters, the most egregious abortion offense may lie at the feet of believers who choose to do nothing.

Watch the video to see what she says.

{eoa}