

25 Pastors, Including Paula White Cain, James Dobson and Jentezen Franklin, Pray Over Trump at White House

A group of pastors and faith leaders had an exclusive meeting with President Donald Trump at the White House Tuesday, Oct. 29. During that meeting, President Trump reportedly asked the pastors to lay hands on him and pray.

The meeting, according to several pastors' accounts, involved discussions of the president's accomplishments on behalf of evangelical Christians, including defending religious freedom, battling opioid addiction, reducing abortion and nominating conservative and pro-life Supreme Court judges.

Some of the pastors and faith leaders who were present at the meeting included: Paula White Cain, Jentezen Franklin, Dr. James Dobson, Greg Laurie, Ralph Reed Jr., Jack Graham, Robert Jeffress, Samuel Rodriguez, Tony Perkins and Guillermo Maldonado.

Soon afterward, several of those leaders posted photos of the meeting and prayer. Some praised the president's pro-family and pro-biblical values while others offered prayer against what they see as unjust impeachment hearings.

Jentezen Franklin, senior pastor of Free Chapel, wrote on Instagram: "There's nothing prayer and fasting cannot change. We are called to pray for our leaders and give Godly council [sic] when asked. I can say truly, that is happening. Will you join me and fast and pray for our nations leaders? "The heart of the king is in the hand of the Lord." Proverbs 21:1."

Paula White Cain, who was just officially added to the White House staff, called it “an honor to be @whitehouse on Tuesday to pray for @realdonaldtrump and our nation!”

She says they were able to discuss the “many great accomplishments” of Trump’s leadership.

“He continues to work tirelessly on behalf of the American people,” she wrote. “I call all believers to pray as the Word tells us .. ‘if my people who are called by my name humble themselves, and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and heal their land’ 2 Chronicles 7:14

(Official White House Photo by Joyce Boghosian) #prayer #potus #nation #blessed #God #USA #WH”

Dr. James Dobson and his wife, Shirley, posted photos of their time at the White House, saying, “We spent about 45 minutes in the Roosevelt Room in the White House on Tuesday. There were about 20 religious leaders there. It was a fascinating experience. The President was in fine form. We gathered around him and prayed for him. Here are a few pictures.”

See the post below: