

4 Ways to Love God More

Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night, and if I can't get back to sleep, I get up to pray. It's become a habit that I have learned to appreciate. We have a long hallway in our house, and I love to walk up and down that hallway seeking the Lord.

Yesterday morning in the early hours, I began my time with God, as I usually do, in worship and praise. I found myself pondering the question, how do I show God how much I love him? What is his love language?

Which took me in my thinking to the book, The 5 Love Languages: The Secret to Love That Lasts
