

Amazing 1981 Prophecy Says the U.S. Economy Will Collapse After the Death of Fidel Castro

Four of the five major events named in an incredible 1981 prophecy have already happened in consecutive order, and the only thing remaining to be fulfilled is “the collapse of the economic system of the United States.”

On Friday, I logged onto Facebook and discovered someone had sent me a message about a website I had never heard about. I had a few spare minutes, so I went and checked it out. To be honest, it was very poorly designed, so I only spent a moment there before I moved on.

Sadly, this is how things work on the Internet. If something does not capture our interest immediately, we don't have the patience to keep reading. But later, I learned this website contained a very old prophecy about the death of Fidel Castro that has very alarming implications for our near future.

For many years, my wife and I have been studying the dreams and visions God has been giving to people all over the world about the future of America. Sometimes these dreams and visions are given to those who are very well-known, and other times, they are given to people nobody really knows about.

Despite looking into these things for well over a decade, I had never heard of John W. Johnston before learning of this prophecy. He appears to have been a simple man who lived near the beach in Virginia before moving to the mountains a couple of years ago. Since moving, he has only updated his website once, and that was in September 2014. At this point, nobody seems to know what ultimately happened to him or if he is even still alive.

But his website is still up, and so somebody must be keeping an eye on things. And the reason so many people are talking about John W. Johnston right now is because of something God told him in 1981:

“When you see that the Berlin Wall comes down, and when you see the Soviet Union take a severe blow, then it makes a recovery and then you see the death of Fidel Castro, then shall come the collapse of the economic system of the United States.”

This is an extraordinary prophecy, and in it, Johnston was given five things to watch for.

The first event was the Berlin Wall coming down, and that happened in November 1989.

The second event was a “severe blow” to the Soviet Union, and the Soviet Union’s collapse is generally regarded to have taken place in 1991.

The third event was a “recovery” for the Soviet Union, and without a doubt, Russia is once again a major player on the world stage.

The fourth event was the death of Fidel Castro, which happened this past Friday.

So the only thing remaining to be fulfilled is “the collapse of the economic system of the United States.”

Of course, no time interval was given in the prophecy, and the other events have been fulfilled over a number of years. That means we can’t say just how quickly we should expect to see an economic collapse according to this prophecy.

But without a doubt, this prophecy got my attention. Here it is again in the context in which it originally appeared on Johnston's website:

Around 1981, God gave me a prophetic word of knowledge that has been partially fulfilled. These events are time markers, and very soon, we will see the fulfillment of the rest of this word. The Lord told me the following:

“When you see that the Berlin wall comes down, and when you see the Soviet Union take a severe blow, then it makes a recovery and then you see the death of Fidel Castro, then shall come the collapse of the economic system of the United States.”

The Berlin Wall separated East Germany from West Germany for more than 25 years. Its construction began on August 13, 1961. The wall was opened and many sections of it knocked down on November 9, 1989.

The Soviet Union is considered to have officially dissolved on December 31, 1991. This is when all official Soviet institutions had stopped to function in the different “republics” of the Soviet Union. The individual governments of these republics started functioning separately. The Soviet flag flew for the last time over the Kremlin.

As you know, Fidel Castro is now a very old man in his eighties, and his health is not good. Cuba could soon see the death of its longtime dictator.

When you see Castro's death. you will see the complete collapse of the economic system of America!

Needless to say, we need to use discernment when it comes to any prophecies.

Sadly, so much of the Christian world has such an unbalanced approach to prophecy today. I grew up going to mainstream churches that did not believe God speaks to people today.

Anyone who ever claimed to have received something from God was immediately labeled a false prophet.

On the flip side, many believers out there today use no discernment whatsoever and just accept any “prophets” and “prophecies” that happen to come along. That is equally unbalanced.

Just as it has been throughout all of human history, there are many true prophets in our day, but there are also plenty of false ones running around.

Without a doubt, trying to discern between the two can be confusing at times.

One of the keys is to look at the track record of any individual who claims to be receiving something from God, because that will tell you a lot.

In Johnston’s case, there is not a lot to go on, but it is very encouraging to see he has been shown many of the same things about the future of America that many proven prophets with extremely long track records have also been shown.

Specifically, Johnston has been shown that famine is coming to America, the giant tsunami that will slam into the east coast someday and the coming Russian attack on the United States. The details of what Johnston was shown can be seen on his website.

As for the coming economic collapse, Johnston is just one among a multitude of men and women of God all over the world who have been shown that our economy will suffer as never before.

And now that Fidel Castro has died, according to Johnston’s prophecy, nothing stands in the way of this collapse.

We know it is coming at some point, and the only question now is how soon it will arrive. {eoa}
