

Anne Graham Lotz: New Film Is a Must-See

Best-selling author and international Bible teacher Anne Graham Lotz loves the newest docudrama by investigative filmmaker Tim Mahoney, which explores Israel's ancient connection to the land.

“‘The Israel Dilemma–Ancient Prophecies’ is a riveting blend of history, archaeology, drama and investigative narration that is spellbinding,” Graham Lotz says.

“Truly, Tim Mahoney has created a superb film that is a must-see for Jews, Christians, Bible critics and prophecy skeptics,” she adds. “I give it my applause and full endorsement.”

“Patterns of Evidence: The Israel Dilemma–Ancient Prophecies” will debut in theaters nationwide in the U.S. on Nov. 13, 14 and 17, just ahead of the Thanksgiving holiday.

“Patterns of Evidence: The Israel Dilemma–Ancient Prophecies” includes interviews with Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, movie critic Michael Medved and experts in history, archaeology and the Bible. Mahoney's extensive research builds the case that ancient Israel has been in the promised land from the days of the Old Testament, and God's promise to them continues today.

“This film gives Jews, Christians and anyone interested in the Middle East a framework of objective evidence for understanding God's plan,” Mahoney says. “Beginning in Genesis 12, God promises to make Abraham a great nation and to give them the land of Canaan.

"From this and other ancient prophecies, and the evidence assembled in the film, we begin to see God's firm foundation: He promised the land of promise to the Jews. This is part of His bigger plan for the world, and His plan will not be thwarted."
