

Another Unexplainable Monolith Appears

Another monolith has appeared on a dairy farm in Colorado.

In Bellvue, Colorado, Howling Cow Café and Morning Fresh Dairy Farm owner Lori Graves has been adapting to one of the wildest additions in town: a mysterious monolith discovered on her property.

Speaking with local outlet, KDVR, Graves says, “It was Sunday morning...when someone came into the café and said, ‘Where is the monolith? Where is the alien monolith?’”

On the Howling Cow Café Instagram page, images of the structure showcase its massive size.

“This just landed @Howling Cow Café,” the post reads. “‘What might this be?’ is the question of the week here at the café as many come in to ask about this mysterious structure. A monolith, sculpture, local artist or aliens...we don’t know?!”
