

Author of Heartbeat Bills Says 'Trump Will Be Vindicated'

Janet Porter, president of Faith2 Action and author of the pro-life movement's heartbeat bills, wants believers to know to "be encouraged, and that this election is far from over."

Porter, who has authored heartbeat bills in several states, says she believes the Supreme Court will decide the fate of the presidency of the United States in the coming weeks and months, and that President Donald Trump will be vindicated.

Saturday morning, media outlets declared Joe Biden as the 46th president, but Porter is certain that will not be the case.

"I have no doubt that when this case comes before the U.S. Supreme Court that Donald J. Trump will be declared the winner of this election and remain as president," Porter said. "How can I be so sure? Because the evidence of election fraud being gathered is already overwhelming. And, because now there are five members of the Supreme Court that swore to uphold the Constitution and actually meant it.

"The mass corruption and voter fraud will be exposed. And, our leaders will finally have the resolve to fix it."

Porter says there are several things believers can do to help, not the least of which is "fast and pray like our nation and freedoms depend on it."

"For starters, put down the white flag and quit pretending that this is anything other than high-stakes drama," Porter says. "... But do it with a faith-filled heart because, no matter what it looks like now, I have no doubt whatsoever this election will end very well."

Watch this video for more of how Porter believes President Donald Trump will remain in office.