

Big Dreamer = Bigger Achiever

☒ Dare to dream big even in the midst of life's uncertainties. Circumstances may be uncertain at the moment, but your dream is certain if you never give up on achieving it. Thomas Edward Lawrence (of Arabia) once said, "All men dream, but not all men equally. Those who dream by night in the dusty recess of their minds, wake in the day to find that it was vanity; but the dreamers of the day are dangerous men, for they may act on their dreams with open eyes, to make them possible."

Your dream is the rudder of the ship that steers you while you navigate the rough waters of your present situation. Be the dangerous dreamer of the day. Be willing to continue moving forward with your eyes focused on your dream. As you gain momentum, remember to enjoy the journey. Don't just wait for the big moment when your dream comes true. Celebrate the joy of overcoming each rough wave along the way. Soon you will love riding the waves that will take you into the fulfillment of your dream.
