

Beautiful Things

By Gungor | Brash Music

Gungor (formerly The Michael Gungor Band) offers alternative worship about the goodness, faithfulness and greatness of God on the new release Beautiful Things.

The title track is a ballad of faith declaring that Jesus can make the “dust” of our lives into something beautiful. The banjo-based highlight “You Have Me” declares that even in the silence God is “always faithful, always good.”

The chorus will resonate with listeners: “You have me / You have me / You have my heart completely.” Israel Houghton joins the band on the fun, bass-driven track “Heaven.” “The Earth Is Yours” is a likely track of how creation praises its Creator. Many listeners will relate to the desperate confession of “Please Be My Strength.” When our faith falters, we can trust Him and ask, “Please, be my strength / Please be my strength / Cause I don’t have any more / I don’t have any more.”

Gungor’s eclectic mix of musical elements and styles will appeal to a wide range of listeners. Believers’ faith will be bolstered as they are reminded of God’s transforming presence in their lives.
