

Siblings BeBe and CeCe Winans Return

After a 15-year hiatus as a duo and numerous awards to their credit as solo artists, siblings BeBe and CeCe Winans have returned to the studio and together created their latest album, Still.

Still, which has an R&B, soul, pop and jazz feel, showcases 12 new cuts. Standouts include “Grace”; “Things,” featuring brother and megachurch pastor Marvin Winans; “Let it Be,” with the group Mary Mary; and “Close to You.”

BeBe and CeCe are not new to Christian music—they were born into the famous Winans family musical dynasty—and it is clear the two want listeners to have a genuine relationship with Jesus. The duo sing of God’s love, faith and power on the CD.

Today BeBe and CeCe are loaded with other projects that have kept them front and center in the industry. BeBe is a judge on the Word Network’s Sunday Best talent show alongside Erica and Tina Campbell of Mary Mary and hosted by singer Kirk Franklin. CeCe performs in concerts around the country and abroad, and releases an album nearly every year. In the recent past she launched My Sister’s Keeper, a mentoring ministry for girls and young-adult women, conducted a U.S. prayer tour and performed on the hit TV show American Idol.

CeCe says she is committed to her calling. “I’ve always considered myself a worshiper,” she says. “The secret to my success, in every area of my life, is worship and praise to Him.”
