

Benham Brothers: The Real Issue With the Trans Ban Has Nothing to Do With Trans People

Jason and David Benham says the outcry over transgender people not being allowed to serve in the military has nothing to do with their identity. Instead, it's an evil agenda trying to force its way through the nation.

The military has standards, the brothers say, which include prohibiting those with asthma, sleep apnea or 17-20 year-olds with more than 30 percent body fat from joining their ranks.

Yet no one's crying foul over these people.

Watch the video to see more.