

Biden Administration to Begin Door-to-Door Vaccine Bullying

On July 6, White House press secretary Jen Psaki announced the Biden administration will enlist people to begin going door-to-door to “encourage” unvaccinated Americans to get their COVID shot.

Another definition for “encourage” would be: Bully. Force. Threaten.

Or else.

According to a report by ABC News, Biden is “doubling down on efforts to get more Americans vaccinated despite missing his self-imposed Fourth of July deadline of having 70% of American adults vaccinated with at least one dose and 160 million people fully vaccinated.”

Psaki and the administration continue to insist the vaccine is “completely safe.” They refrain from giving important information that people are dying, coming down with blood clots, heart inflammation, paralysis, miscarrying and so forth.

While our government hasn’t always been forthright in sharing the increasing adverse reactions, the Ministry of Health in Singapore stated earlier this month that some 2,000 individuals experienced severe adverse reactions after the first dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna vaccine and warned they should not receive an mRNA vaccine again.

In America, mid-December 2020 and April 23, 2021 between 95 million and 100 million Americans had received their COVID-19 shots with 3,544 reported deaths.

By that same time, the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System had also received 12,618 reports of serious adverse reactions to the shot by either the first or second dose. To date there have been a total of 118,902 adverse events reported.

In April 2021, a report in The New England Journal of Medicine stated miscarriages were the most common condition reported after a COVID vaccine for pregnant women, and that “there is probably substantial underreporting of pregnancy- and neonatal-specific adverse events” connected with the vaccine. So why is the vaccine continued to be given to pregnant women?

Additionally, control and manipulation to force the vaccine is increasing. Did you know that some smart phones are now downloading apps without our permission? The apps are spyware, which can only be discovered by going into “settings.” They track users by those who have not had the vaccine or those who have been exposed and then send a text to warn people they could be in danger. For example, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health partnered with Google and Apple to create a smartphone app called MassNotify, which tracks and traces people, advising users of others’ COVID-19 status.

Can you imagine standing in line at a store and all of a sudden you get attacked because those standing in line next to you receive the following text:

“Warning, the person standing next to you is a danger”?

Interesting times lie ahead. {eo}
