

Blasphemous Comedy Will Make You Sick to Your Stomach

Help us stop Claws from ever airing!

On Sunday, June 11, at 9:00 p.m. ET/8:00 p.m. CT, TNT network will televise an extremely graphic and blasphemous program like none we have ever seen. The trailer appears to be a trashy show about a nail salon and how they launder drug money, but it is so much more. You can be assured: With a MA-LSV rating, it is not appropriate for television. Originally, this so-called “comedy” was to air on HBO with 30-minute episodes, but now it plans to air on TNT for one hour on Sunday evenings when children and teens are still awake. This new program goes where no other show has gone.

For starters, Claws mocks Christianity, insults Catholicism and ridicules people of faith. This dark show can make believers sick to their stomachs with the blasphemous content. (Editor's note: The petition link includes graphic descriptions, but you can sign the petition without reading them should you so choose.)

Add your voice today. Your support will help One Million Moms stop this disgraceful new show from entering the American television lineup. If this program airs, then there will likely be copycats on other networks in the near future.

Please sign the Stop Claws Petition to urge TNT to immediately cancel Claws in light of the massive public outcry against this show. {eoa}
