

Celebrities Admitting to Witchcraft Practice

In a world where we see a rise in the occult, we are also seeing more and more celebrities admitting to being part of the witchcraft scene. As Christians, we must press in and pray for these people to have their lives changed.

In a reaction video by Nick Jones, he shared the Instagram photos of Kendall Jenner admitting to being a witch on her birthday.

On Instagram, Jenner posted a photos of her birthday cakes with the caption “Another year. I’m blessed. Thank you.” However, one of Jenner’s cakes had the writing on it, “Witches don’t age.”

“She’s blessed. Blessed by who?” Jones asks.

As Jones points out, Jenner has 290 million followers on Instagram. That’s a lot of people that she has an influence over.

Another major celebrity who recently admitted to being a witch is Ariana Grande. Grande, who is now starring in the new “Wicked” film, is apparently more than just an onscreen witch, but is a literal, practicing one as well. In an interview, Grande discussed her love of tarot cards and doing readings for people when she is on set.

Speaking on astrology and tarot cards, Grande says its “kind of a tool to help us hear what we need to hear sometimes, and kind of look forward with hope and awareness.”

She describes it as a way to look to something “bigger” than herself.

“[I am] the witchiest witch,” says Grande.

“This clarity, this hope that you’re being given is false,” says Jones. “It’s not coming from the only pure Spirit, which is the Holy Spirit. It’s coming from the enemy.”

It’s been said before that when someone is working with the enemy he isn’t trying to attack them. Jenner and Grande just may be two examples of that, as they dive into a completely false belief system. However, the eternal punishment and separation from the Lord is too great a risk to be playing with.

“They’re promoting these ideas, they’re promoting these concepts of astrology in order to seek wisdom and seek guidance,” says Jones. “What is hope if eventually that hope is going to lead to death? If that hope that you have does not lead to life, then you don’t have hope at all.”

It is only through the Holy Spirit that we can experience true hope and freedom. It is only by repenting and turning to Christ that true hope and freedom can be found. Pray for celebrities like Jenner and Grande to find the true hope of Jesus Christ.
