

Chris Christie Says Hillary Must Answer This Question Immediately (Video)

After Hillary Clinton said she was “proud to stand with Planned Parenthood,” Chris Christie had just one question: Really? The former secretary of state actually attacked Republicans over the issue after Jeb Bush made a verbal gaffe during an appearance before a meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention, when he appeared to question public funding of women’s health care. Jeb later said he meant only to question whether the nation’s leading abortion provider should receive more than $500 million a year from U.S. taxpayers. Christie said the charge that Republicans don’t care about health care is outrageous. The tough talking candidate has said that as governor of New Jersey, he defunded Planned Parenthood six years ago and has vetoed such funding a total of eight times, while funding health care for both sexes – and that Hillary has more to answer for than any GOP hopeful. “Secretary Clinton, why don’t you answer this question: Do you support the conduct of Planned Parenthood in the killing of children in the womb in a way that maximizes their body parts for sale on the open market?” He was referring to a total of five undercover videos showing Planned Parenthood officials talking about the dissection and sale of aborted babies’ body parts.

Clinton campaign spokeswoman Karen Finney told MSNBC’s Thomas Roberts Wednesday that the candidate has not seen the actual videos, but she supports Planned Parenthood nonetheless.
