

Chris Pratt Reminds America What Christmas Is Really About

It is rare these days to hear a Hollywood celebrity speak plainly about Jesus. In a culture saturated with commercialism, distractions and self-promotion, hearing actor Chris Pratt publicly point people back to Jesus at Christmas is refreshing.

In a recent video promoting the Christian prayer app Hallow, Pratt urged viewers to slow down and remember why the season matters. He began playfully: "It's the most wonderful time of year, Christmas, the joy, the family time, the presents, the cookies," he said while tossing a cookie over his shoulder.