

Christian Artist Brady Toops Walks Off 'Bachelorette' to Win the Heart of Ousted Britt Nilsson

Christian/gospel singer and songwriter Brady Toops made his foray into reality television to pursue the heart of The Bachelorette's Britt Nilsson.

When Nilsson, one of two bachelorettes, was eliminated, Toops made his move and left the show too.

"I don't think I expected it to turn out this way," Toops says. " ... I came here to get to know this girl."

"God consistently works things out for good when we trust Him ... even through pain, mistakes, sadness. I learned a lot about human nature and about myself," Nilsson says of her experience on television.

The two are both incredibly open about their faith, Nilsson on her Instagram and Toops in his lyrics.

Do you think God can use reality TV to work things out for His good? Sound off!
