Condolences poured in from across the world at the news of actor Jason David Frank's passing.

The actor rose to fame as Tommy Oliver in the hit-show "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers," where he portrayed the Green/White ranger.

Frank, who was known for his mixed martial arts (MMA) skill outside of the show, reportedly took his own life in a hotel room after getting into an argument with his wife, Tammie. They were reportedly going through a divorce when Frank's body was found the following morning.

A representative for Frank confirmed his passing the next day.

"Unfortunately, it is true," the rep stated. "Please respect the privacy of his family and friends during this horrible time as we come to terms with the loss of such a wonderful human being.

"He loved his family, friends and fans very much. He will truly be missed."

His co-stars from the original Power Ranger series shared how impactful he had been to them as well.
