

Christians and the Digital Revolution

Is your ministry struggling to keep up with the current media trends? Do you feel as though you are competing with the media? Then check out what Christian media consultant Phil Cooke has to say about the church embracing the new media revolution.