

Christians Fill Mile-Long Communion Table on National Mall: 'Nothing but the Blood of Jesus'

At a time when the government is shut down due to partisan politics and the bickering that's taking place on Capitol Hill over the issue, thousands of people gathered on the National Mall to lift up the name of Jesus. They came to Washington to take a seat at the table of brotherhood to celebrate Communion America.

The blowing of the Shofar symbolized the National Mall becoming Holy Ground for planting seeds of spiritual renewal. Thousands of believers came together, representing all 50 states, as well as Puerto Rico and Israel.

From the main stage of the event, speakers cried out for repentance, declaring, "Jesus, we need your leadership. We repent!"

It was a call to collectively repent before celebrating communion. Also, the faithful prayed to humble themselves and call on God to heal America.

Breaking up into small groups, some knelt, sat, or stood. All holding hands as they fervently prayed for God to have an impact on the nation.

Event organizer David Bradshaw sees Communion America as a bold witness to honor God in America.

“I believe that God is calling the Church outside the four walls. And so we’re believing for tables of communion and outbreaks of worship and outreach on every university in America,” Bradshaw said.
