

Chuck Pierce's Prophetic Word for Our New Season

As we wrap up 2024 and enter into a new year and a new presidency, prophetic voice, Chuck Pierce, is giving a word of encouragement for our new season.

"Do not process the world around you from the world," Pierce warns. "Because we're not conformed to this world. Our minds are transformed. And we need to keep our minds transformed so when we're walking in the world we evaluate it properly."

One of the key reasons Pierce gives for staying transformed is so that we as God's people can move forward and progress toward God's promise of the fruitful land.

Up until this point, the Lord has laid out detailed visions and insights for Pierce starting from 1986 through 2026. Now, Pierce sought the Lord for vision on what God wants us to know about America past 2026.

The answer Pierce received was "extend time, Hezekiah."

This word led Pierce to study Hezekiah in relation to time, taking note that Hezekiah celebrated two Passovers in one year.

Just as there was a three-year period during Hezekiah's reign where the people would eat "such as grows of itself, "what springs from the same" and finally a time of sowing and reaping." Pierce saw how this biblical passage aligns perfectly with what the Lord wants to do from 2025 through 2027.

“And the Lord said, ‘I want to show you that if you will progress through the next two years, you’ll have new fruit in 2027,’” Pierce says.

Pierce believes that the time we are living in right now is a time of recovery.

“What the Lord was saying was, ‘I’m bringing you a three-year turnaround period,’” Pierce prophesies.

The Lord’s promises are all yes and amen in Him, and Pierce reminds us that we cannot stop fighting in the spirit for the promise and the hope that God has for us. Ultimately, the enemy will try to do everything he can to stop us from keeping our hope and expecting God to do the miracles He’s already said He would do.

“You have to know and be motivated to press into your land that has a new fruitfulness,” says Pierce. “Land in the Word of God is linked not just with promise, but is linked with your heart also.”

God is looking at our hearts to be teachable, correctable, and willing to trust Him to see His goodness in the land of the living. During this new season, let’s continue to press into the Lord so we can see the fulfillment of all that He has promised to us as His children.
