

Cindy Jacobs' Warning Confirms Prophecy of Domestic Terror During Plague

On April 17, I released a prophetic word about domestic terror lurking behind the COVID-19 veil.

Behind the scenes of hubbub around a contagion that has much of the world on lockdown, self-sheltering and social distancing, domestic terrorists are plotting and planning the next attack.

Their mindset is clear: No one sees us. We're under the radar. Coronavirus is distracting the world.

Now, Jacobs is confirming the word. In a Shields Up alert, she wrote:

"For the past few days, I have become increasingly uncomfortable and concerned that something was being planned on a terrorist level to send chaos and confusion into the nation. I have polled other reliable sources, and they have felt a similar sensing.

"This could potentially happen on various levels. For instance, we could experience bioterrorism, economic terrorism and/or multi-site physical attacks on our nation's capital. Various other soft targets could also be in the sights of wicked people who hate the United States.

"So, therefore, let's put our shields up in prayer and protect the nation. If we do our job right, we may or may not know what we have prevented. 'And we prayed to our God and set a guard as a protection against them day and night'" (Neh. 4:9; ESV)."

In my original article, I posted some prayer points. Here they are again.

–Repent for the sins of your city.

–Plead the Blood of Jesus over your city.

–Pray for the hedge of protection around your city.

–Pray against acts of terror prospering in your city.

–Pray that the Lord would empower politicians and police with strategies to eradicate terrorists and thwart future attacks.

–Pray that intercessors will not grow weary.
