

Could You Love Like They Do?

Nick Vujicic and his wife, Kanae, authors of Love Without Limits: A Remarkable True Story of Love Conquering All (WaterBrook Press), are featured in the Dec. 15 issue of People magazine. Vujicic, who was born without arms or legs, shares in an article headlined “My Beautiful Life” his fear of being alone in life.

“The fear of being alone is more disabling than having no arms and legs,” Vujicic, director of Life Without Limbs, told People.

Despite his “ridiculously good life” as a New York Times best-selling author and international evangelist, Vujicic never thought he would find a woman who would love him unconditionally.

“God brought me an incredible woman whose capacity for loving me astounds me every day,” Vujicic said.

To see an excerpt and video, go to .