"Recently, Daystar made the decision to terminate my son, Jonathan Lamb's, employment," Lamb says. "That decision was not taken lightly. It followed a 15-month review of Jonathan's performance and his refusal to take any steps to satisfy a detailed performance improvement plan put in place. He also refused my offer to participate in a formal mediation to resolve grievances in a biblical and professional manner."

In a statement posted to the Daystar website, Joni Lamb gives more details on the situation.
