

Deliver Us From Evil

By Robin Carroll | B&H Fiction | softcover | 320 pages | $

The suspense novel Deliver Us From Evil raises awareness about child sex trafficking within the United States. U.S. Marshal Roark Holland is assigned the task of escorting a donor heart for a major witness who can break open a child-trafficking case in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee. Park ranger Brannon Callahan finds herself caught in the middle of Holland's case when she rescues him from a plane crash caused by unexpected blizzard winds.

As they move through the woods, accompanied by Callahan's partner, Lincoln, they discover that someone is out to make them fail at their mission. When they understand the mission is to save the life of innocent children, determination, teamwork and faith become their stabilizing forces.

Robin Carroll weaves into this action-packed adventure a mystery that keeps the reader turning the pages as well as a lighthearted romance that builds between two strangers thrust together in life-threatening circumstances and loss.
