

Discover the Way to True Prosperity

Jeremy and Ally Butrous are a dynamic husband and wife duo who have used the giftings the Lord has blessed them with to, in turn, bless others.

With a passion for marriage counseling, among other things, Jeremy says they use their backgrounds in psychology and ministerial business to create a space in which people can pursue God, “connecting with Him on a spiritual basis.” They are also looking to give others a “practical approach, offering tools and skill sets ” they can use to care for themselves more holistically.” To learn about the Butrouses’ unique partnership with the Lord, listen to this episode of the Next Level Podcast on the Charisma Podcast Network.

Far from the growing pains of establishing their young business, Ally and Jeremy now have a thriving ministry based on Luke 5:6 where Jesus blesses the fishermen with 153 fish after a night of futile fishing. From this model, Ally says she believes “God’s plan is holistic prosperity. There is that invitation to grow spiritually, emotionally, relationally and financially all at the same time.”

Jeremy adds, “We start to look at these ways of prosperity, and then everything really starts to change, because now our options to prosper are limitless, and it affects every area of our life.”

If you are eager to step into the full, prosperous life God has created you to experience, listen to the full podcast here. {eo}