

Do Your Life Choices Invite God's Favor—or Waste It?

The favor of God is not a one-time event, it is meant to be a lifestyle you walk in. We all want to walk in anointing and favor, and God wants to pour out His relentless favor over the life of every believer. But how many of us are willing to live and think in such a way that God can pour out His favor in our lives? When God places His favor upon you, it is because He loves you. The favor of God is not something we can earn, but unfortunately, it is something we can waste. We must each properly position ourselves so that when God's favor comes upon our lives, we can flow with it instead of wasting or squandering it.

When God blesses you with relentless favor, it is not just about you; it is also for others! God places His favor upon us to make each of us an illustration of how His power and favor can transform a person's life. When God begins to use you as an illustration of His goodness and power, you will become proof that God is who He says He is! To be used as an illustration means to be made an example in order to clarify or prove something. God is about to make His sons and daughters illustrations of His relentless favor, blessing and increase.
