

Does Donald Trump Cry?

I've interviewed Donald Trump so much over the years that I had to figure out a quirky question that he may not have ever been asked, even by Barbara Walters! Well, here it is.

David Brody: "This is my Barbara Walters question, and it's not 'What tree would you be?' But I'm curious, have you cried before? Has that been something that you've done in your life?"

Donald Trump: "Well, that's even beyond a Barbara Walters question. She has never asked me that. No, I'm not a big crier. I like to get things done. I'm not a big crier. I'm not someone who goes around crying a lot. But I know people like that. I know plenty of people that cry. They're very good people. But I have not been a big crier."
