Does God Predestine Who You'll Marry?

As I travel and talk with people of all ages, I'm often asked questions like, "How did you and Stephanie meet? How did you survive your single years? How do you find the one you're supposed to marry? How do you know if they are the one? Does God choose your mate?"

I meet so many single Christians with lots of questions on dating and marriage. I want to tell you, God has a covenant mate for you. It doesn't matter your current age. You are never too old to experience the fulfillment of God's promises for you. If you desire marriage, God has a covenant mate for you who you can do life together with. It can be a marriage filled with purpose, vision, love, commitment, fulfillment and joy.

This journey is probably the most important one you will take, besides the journey to finding Christ as your Savior. We want to help you navigate through all the pitfalls and mistakes people make and spare your heart unnecessary heartache. You can successfully find the lifelong, covenant soulmate God has for you and experience the blessing of an amazing marriage. The joy Stephanie and I have found in our marriage you can have as well. Now is the time to find your soulmate!

In addition to this podcast series I'm also offering a seven-session video and audio e-course with teaching, sharing the relationship lessons we've learned, a question and answer time, and prayer and personal impartation for you! It will be real, vulnerable and life-changing. Go to to receive a 50% discount on this course.

Listen to my podcast about this topic here!