

Donald Trump to Headline Major Evangelical Event

The Faith and Freedom Coalition will be hosting its annual Road to Majority conference next month, and according to a new report, Donald Trump will be the “headlining” speaker.

FFC released its list of speakers last month and included Trump on the list as an “invited speaker.” But CBN News Chief Political Correspondent David Brody announced Monday afternoon that Trump will have top billing at the event:

This will be an opportunity for Trump to try and convince skeptical evangelicals to get on board the “Trump Train.” He still has work to do despite a good showing with evangelicals during the primaries.

The FFC Road to Majority event, put on each year by Ralph Reed, will be held this year at the Omni Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D.C. The other confirmed speakers at this year’s event will be:

- U.S. Sen. Ted Cruz (R-Texas)
- Former Hewlett-Packard CEO Carly Fiorina
- Dr. Ben Carson
- Israeli Ambassador to the United States Ron Dermer
- Tony Perkins
- Penny Nance
- Jason and David Benham
- Pastor Jim Garlow
- Pastor Benny Tate
- Pastor Jimmy Seibert

FFC has not yet officially announced Trump’s confirmation.
