

Ellen DeGeneres Takes Tomczak to Task on TV, and He Responds

Amid the heated debate regarding relaxing restrictions versus retaining lockdown, we need to remember our calling as Christ's ambassadors who speak graciously, convincingly and winsomely.

When Ellen DeGeneres on her nationally syndicated show addressed Larry Tomczak for an article on "the avalanche of gay propaganda in today's media," he responded in a way reminding all of us to remain charitable yet convincing in addressing issues with a biblical worldview.

Take 10 minutes to watch this video with the back-and-forth exchange between Ellen and Larry. Use this with your family or congregation to see how we engage people on hot-button issues without unnecessarily alienating them in the process.
