

Evangel University Staff: Impact of Digital Learning on Spirit-Filled Education

This year has highlighted the increased demand for effective digital learning strategies, and this episode of Charisma Connection on the Charisma Podcast Network features Mark Fabian, Evangel University's director of strategic partnerships and digital learning. He unpacks what it means to be successful in this evolving trend, as well as what he sees as the future of digital learning in higher education.

The ability to cultivate community while virtually engaging with students is key to bridging the gap between in-person learning and the digital classroom. Mark has coordinated this transition well, and offers practical tips for both digital learners and instructors.

To learn more about Evangel University, visit and listen to the full interview on Charisma Connection here. {eo}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.