

Ever Wondered Who Pays Abortion Doctors' Medical School Bills?

Ever wondered who convinces medical students, health care providers, doctors and the like to abandon the Hippocratic Oath to pursue careers which involve killing babies and maiming women?

They go into medicine to help heal people, get unsuspecting abortion scholarships and millions end up dying.

The Hippocratic Oath, is a sacred pledge for physicians: to treat the ill to the best of one's ability, to preserve a patient's privacy, to teach the secrets of medicine to the next generation, and more.

So according to the oath, in a pregnancy, the doctor would have two patients. Even in cases of rape and incest and human trafficking, knowing that abortion cannot heal but only compound these violations; the doctor has two patients, mother and child.

During Gosnell's House of Horrors trial, the thought came to me that he, along with the doctor who aborted my second baby, and maybe hundreds of other abortion providers such as Lett in Alabama may have been early victims of phony "medical assistance education grants" that would require that recipients adapt to a eugenicists/genocidal mindset.

I became suspicious of the motivation behind PPH awards and grants while investigating the so called MLK acceptance speech for the PPH Maggie Award. Uncle MLK didn't write the speech, didn't attend the ceremony, and didn't believe that abortion was a civil right. Mrs. Laura Bush and Mrs. Barbara Bush are pro-choice. Their presidential husbands are pro-life. Same with Mrs. Coretta Scott King and MLK. CSK was pro-choice. She accepted the Maggie Award instead of her husband. MLK was pro-life.

During her lifetime, in her own words, PPH Margaret Sanger said:

"While the colored Negroes have great respect for white doctors, they can get closer to their own members and more or less lay their cards on the table. ... They do not do this with white people and if we can train the Negro doctor at the clinic, he can go among them with enthusiasm and ... knowledge, which ... will have far-reaching results among the colored people. ... The minister's work is also important and he should be trained, perhaps by the Federation as to our ideals and the goal that we hope to reach. We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, and the minister is the man who can straighten out that idea if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members."

Sanger is remembered as a popular eugenicist, genocide proponent, and promoter of the development of birth control pills. She was also a co-founder of the notorious sterilization program, The Negro Project, and was a favored consultant with the KKK. She was a forerunner and leader of what today is known as the abortion industry.

Even today, the abortion/anti-life and anti-natural family lobby spends millions annually to infiltrate and indoctrinate the health care world to push euthanasia, abortion, sterilization and other various forms of "population control."

In more current reports, mounting evidence of this trend surfaces:

Recently, an anonymous young British doctor undergoing her abortion training writes in the Guardian newspaper, "If I'm honest, I haven't found it emotionally easy (and I suspect neither have those closest to me!) but I'd never go back and change that decision. Not only have I received excellent tuition, but, perhaps more importantly, I have learnt much about life from the women I have cared for.”

In another report on American students who attend a Cuban medical school on scholarships financed by Pastors for Peace, notes that one of the graduates of the Cuban school, Carmen Landau, was recorded in a 2013 Live Action News video telling a woman at the Southwest Women’s Options clinic in Albuquerque that having an abortion would be like getting a “flu shot or vaccine.”

This “having an abortion would be like getting a “flu shot or vaccine” language sounds suspiciously like the “abortion doesn’t hurt as much as having a tooth pulled” pitch I was given before my abortions in the 1970s. I have since wondered, “who paid to teach our doctors to kill rather than heal”?

In 1 Kings 10:7 the Bible says that not even half of the truth has been told. Galatians 4:16 asks “Have I therefore become your enemy because I tell you the truth?”

Well, it’s time for the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Let’s talk about abortion.
