

Famed Celebrity Calls for Witchcraft Intervention in Pregnancy

Chrissy Teigen called for witchcraft to intervene with her pregnancy headaches.

I love being pregnant. I like it more than not being pregnant. But the headaches, my god the headaches. help. Don't say water. Or Tylenol. Or iron. Or magnesium. I need witchcraft

– christine teigen (@chrissyteigen) Dec. 19, 2017

The model is pregnant with her second child with husband John Legend. Legend was recently tapped to play Jesus in “Jesus Christ Superstar Live in Concert!”

How are they gonna fit u in the manger

– christine teigen (@chrissyteigen) Dec. 19, 2017

Popular pastor Rodney Howard Browne says the occult influences much of Hollywood.

“They sacrifice children at the highest levels in Hollywood. They drink blood of young kids. This is a fact. That’s why the next thing to be exposed will be all the pedophilia that is going to come out of Hollywood and come out of Washington, D.C. The human sacrifice and the cannibalism has been going on for years,” Browne said in an October sermon.

He continued: “Many of the Hollywood actors that you go see on a screen, what you don’t know, they bring a witch, they do a big seance right there on the set, and they worship devils, and they allow devils to come into them before they take the part of what they're going to act. It's a fact, what I am telling you."