

Fear Not: Expert Reveals How to Audit-Proof Your Tax Return

Many Americans live in fear of an audit by the Internal Revenue Service, even though they've done everything right when filing their taxes.

Tax expert Dan Pilla says you don't have to live in fear because you can audit-proof your tax return.

Tax filing season can trigger anxiety for any taxpayer, regardless of income and no matter how honest and careful they are when preparing their returns.

Some taxpayers intentionally pay higher taxes and avoid taking deductions they know they're entitled to just because they fear the prying eyes of the IRS.

And when the dreaded audit happens, the experience can be both emotionally and financially draining.

Pilla says you never have to fear the IRS again. In his book, How to Win Your Tax Audit, he offers proven strategies for audit-proofing your tax return and coming out on top of an audit if the IRS comes knocking on your door.